Knights Exchange

The primary purpose of a school,
the standard of its excellence,
is the preparation of an individual
. . . an individual whose immediate goal
may be vocational training or further education
. . . Whatever his choice, his foremost need is to understand the world and find identity in his complex society.

Among the community resources available to every student is the successful artist, outstanding in his chosen field of creativity.

Part-time employment promotes responsibility and encourages self relience.

Group Attitudes for Personal Aspirations

Many hours of individual study bring elusive concepts into perspective.

The opportunity to develop individual talents; each participant contributing to a successful production.

Chris,
Good luck always and have lots of fun
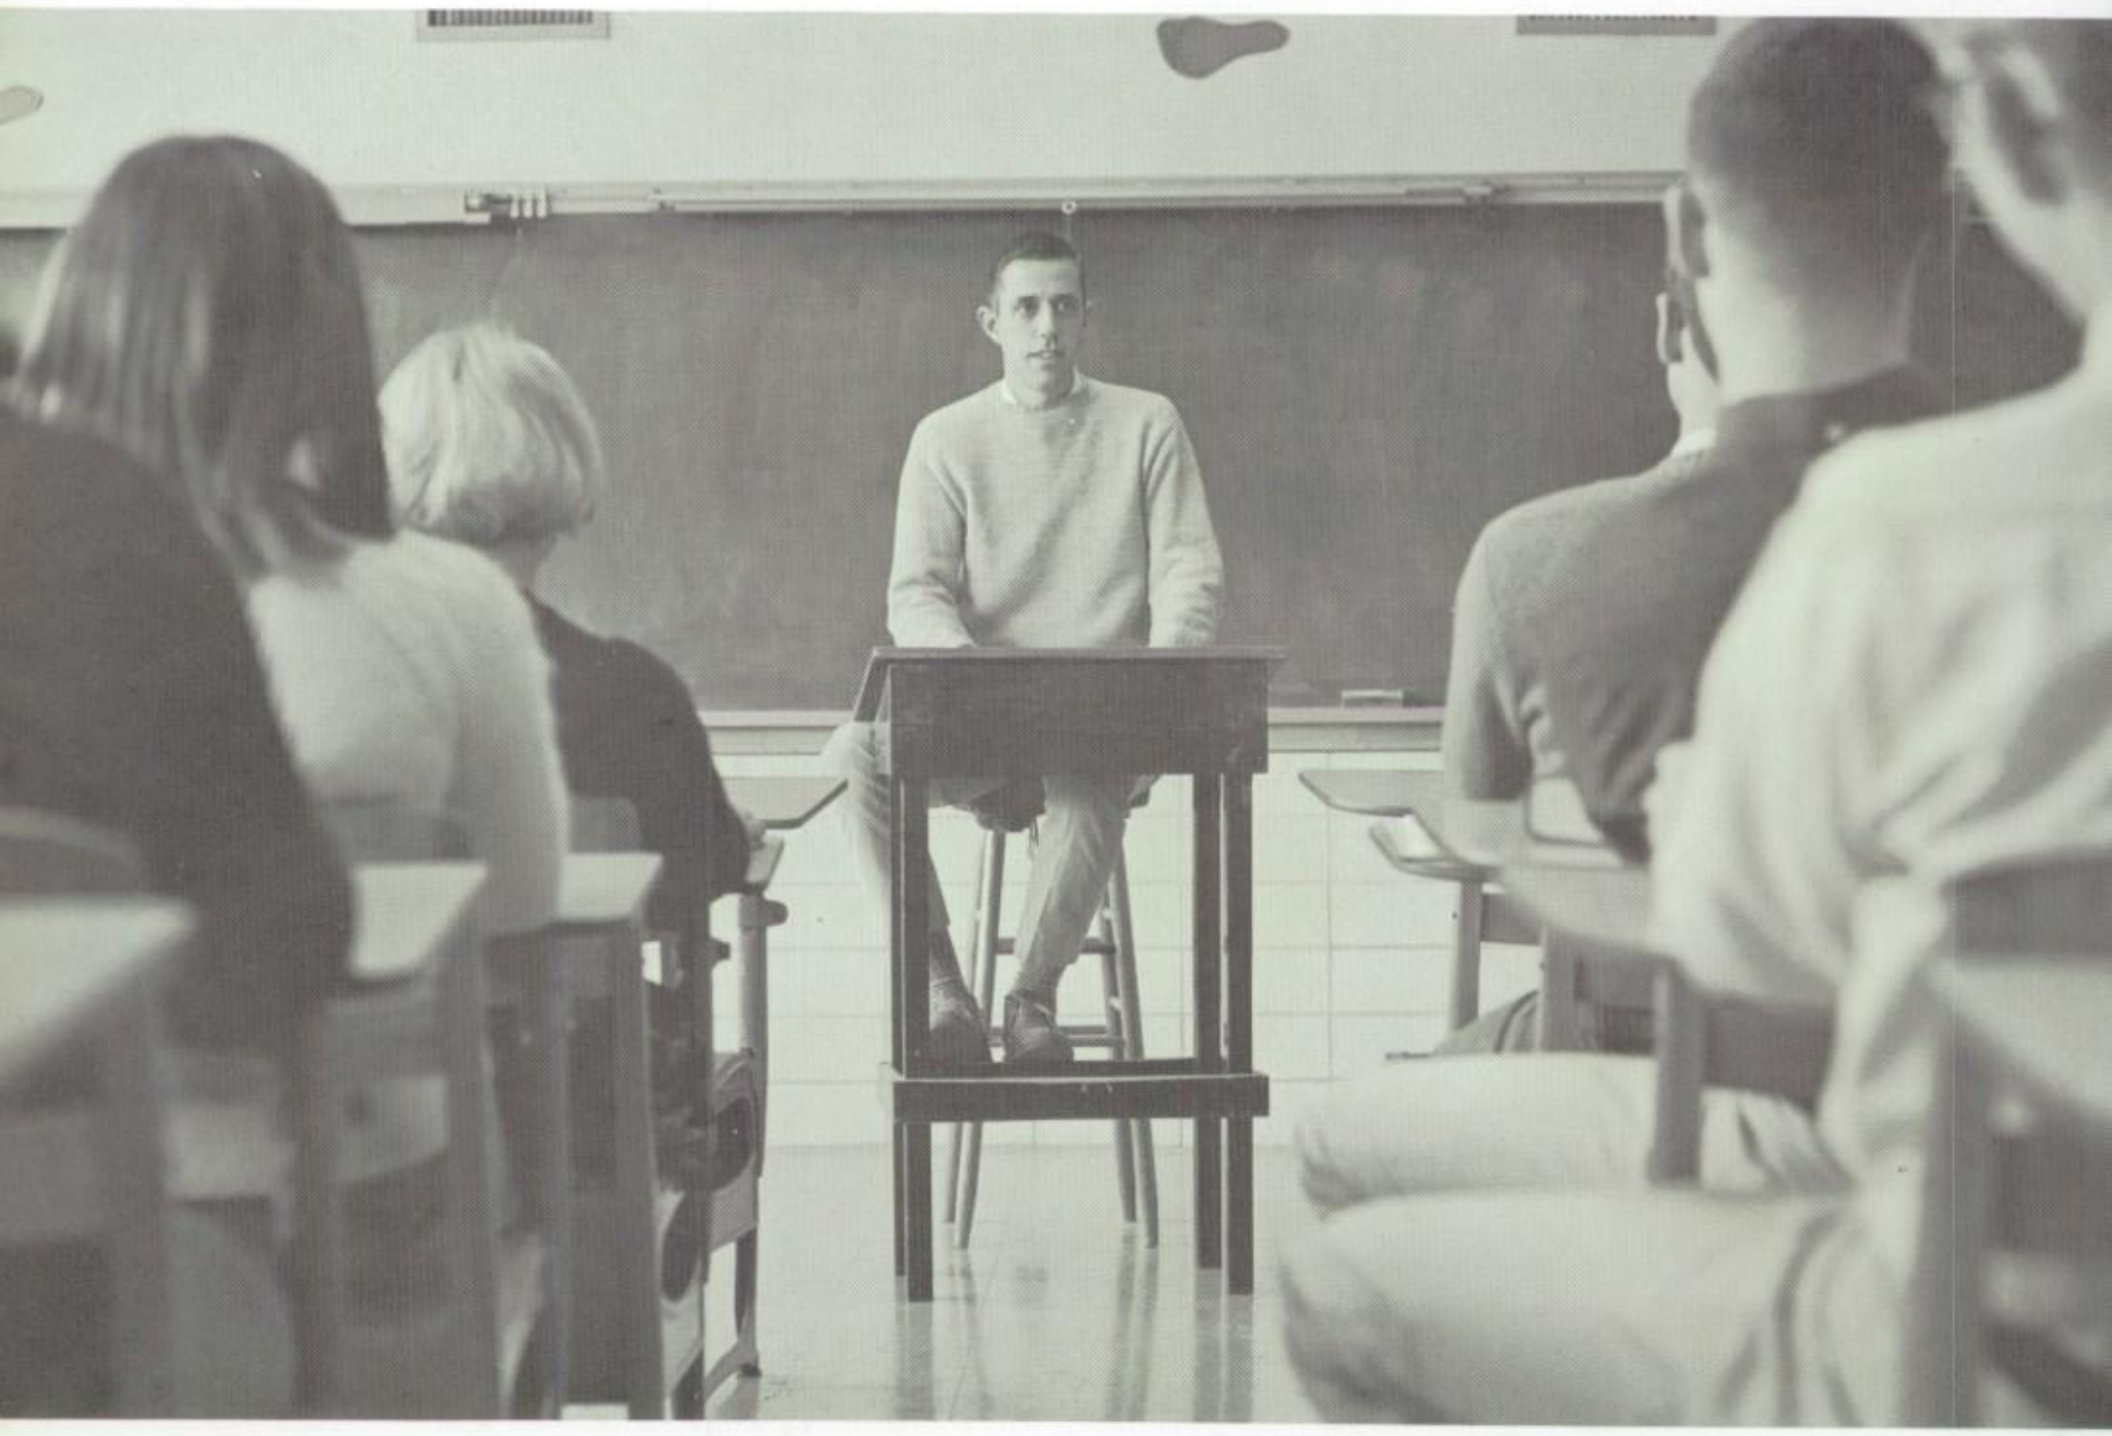
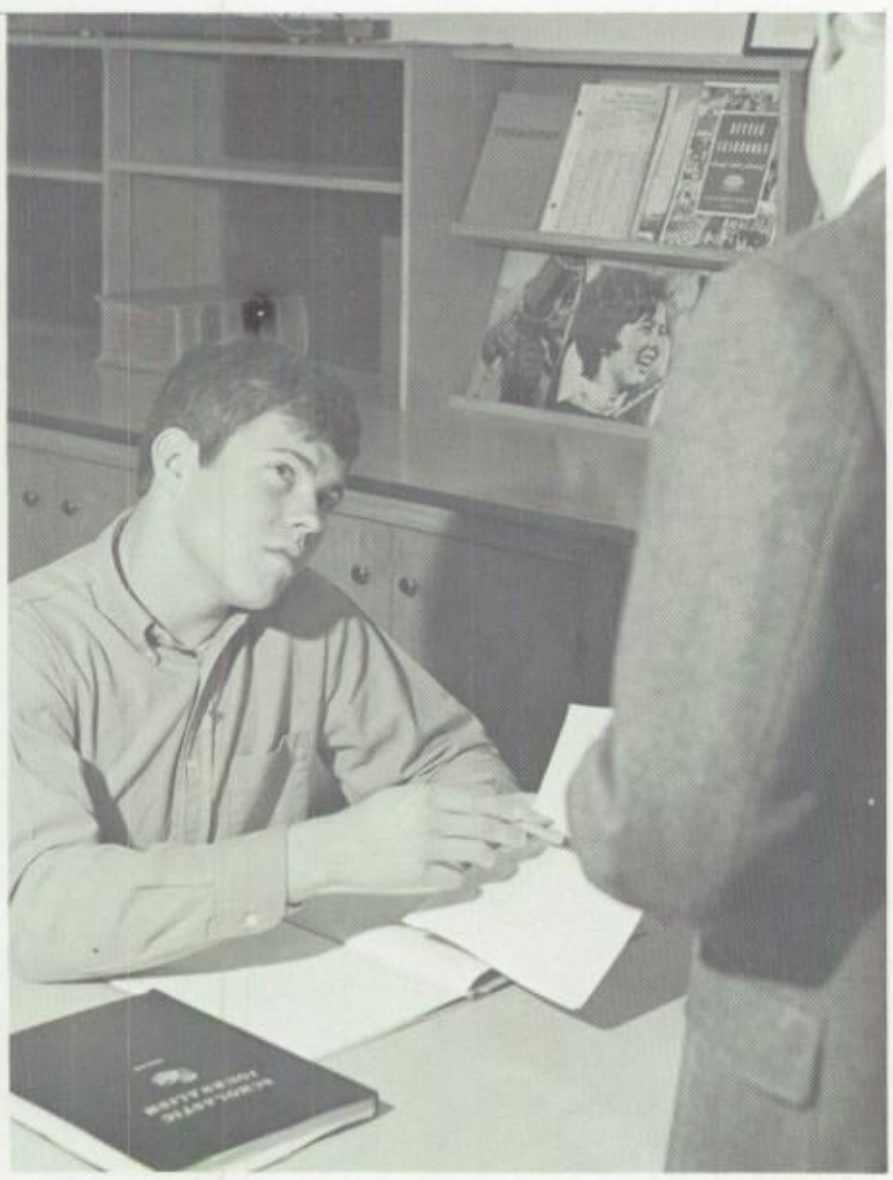
Kris
Boyum



Provocative discussions capture student interest and provide the stimulus for critical thought.

Seniors Emphasize Scholastic Excellence



Cooperation: an essential ingredient of learning.

The etymological meaning of education is to lead forth
. . . to lead the individual out of himself and into the world
. . Education liberates man from ignorance and prejudice and enables him to find fullfillment in a competitive society.

Chris-
It's been a really great year in spite of you.
For a sophomore, you seem to know a lot more than the average sophomore clod.
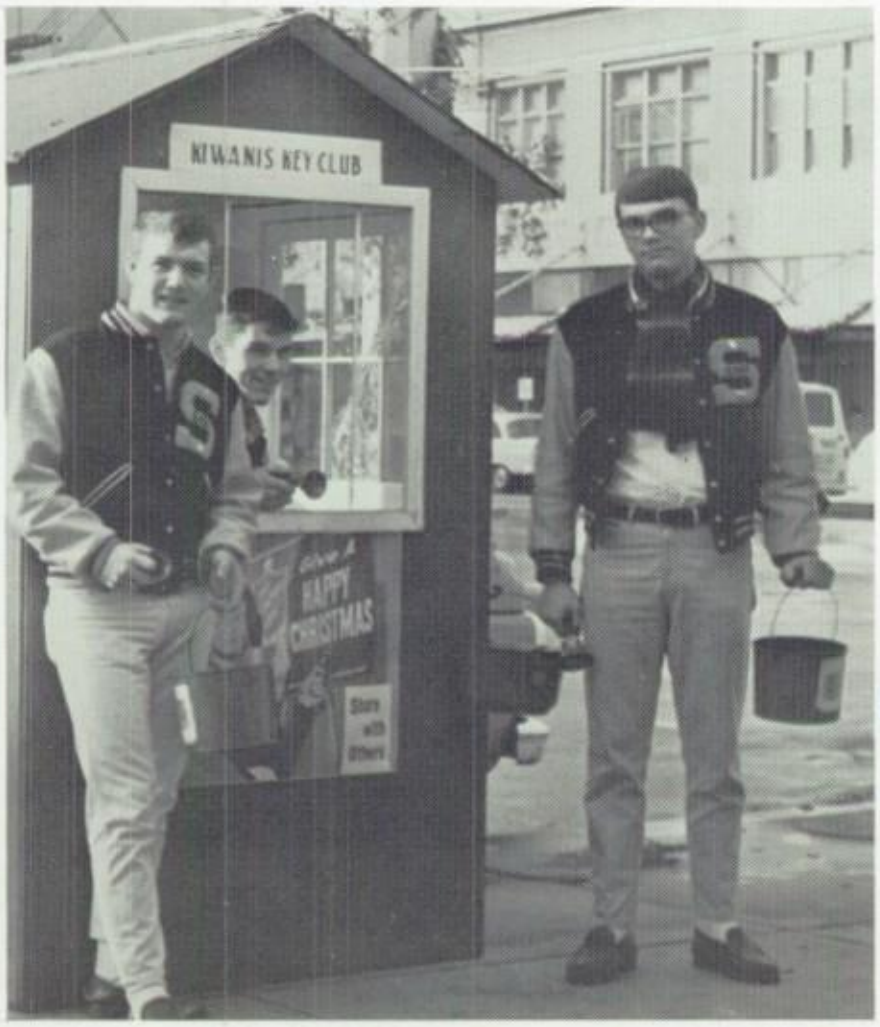
You'll do pretty good everywhere!.
-wingor

The mass rocks out to the throbbing beat of a combo; seeking individuality even at a dance.

Civic-Minded Knights Benefit Community

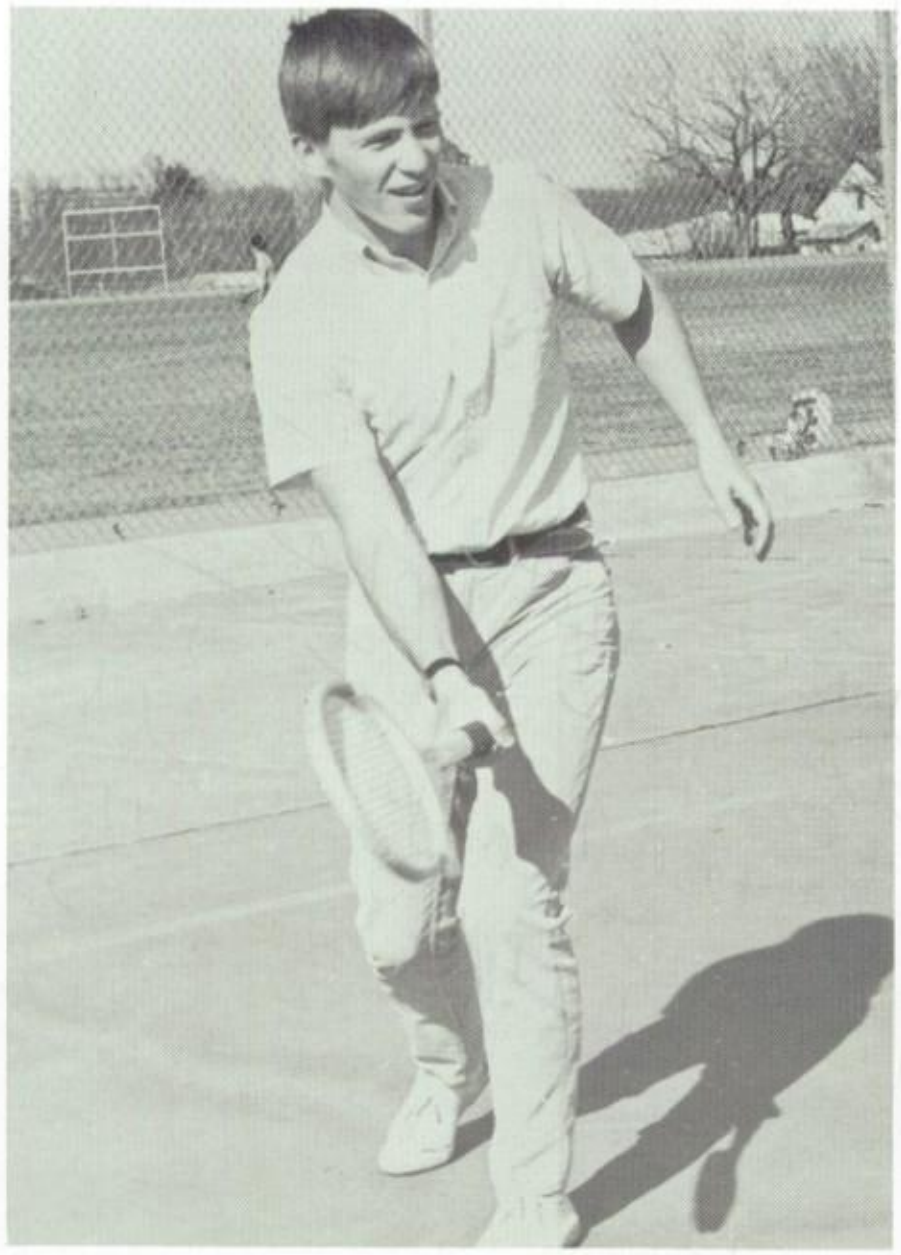


Service club members ring bells for charity; individual contributions to a community project.

An aroused interest in his environment inspires the individual to channel his ideals into practical community improvement . . . Clubs and organizations undertake projects for charity and community benefit, urging traffic safety, and offering students opportunities for enjoyment as they assume responsibility in the community.

Students narrate the singular events at Southeast via radio to an interested community.

Loyalty, Dedication, Typify Knight Spirit



The unifying power of athletics rallies individuals toward a common goal . . . Recognition for both self and school, a sense of accomplishment, and the excitement of competition reward athletes for hours of practice.

Vibrant hues enhance Southeast's athletic tradition.

These are the Knights and we couldn't be prouder . . .

Mid-game conference — individual consultation — adapting pre-game strategy to actual game situations.

A frenzy of excitement and support greets gridders at Seacrest Field.

Chris,
Bill is a lucky man to have a girl like you.
You are not and ever've had our fun times at SE
and chris - have a tremendous year (Junior).
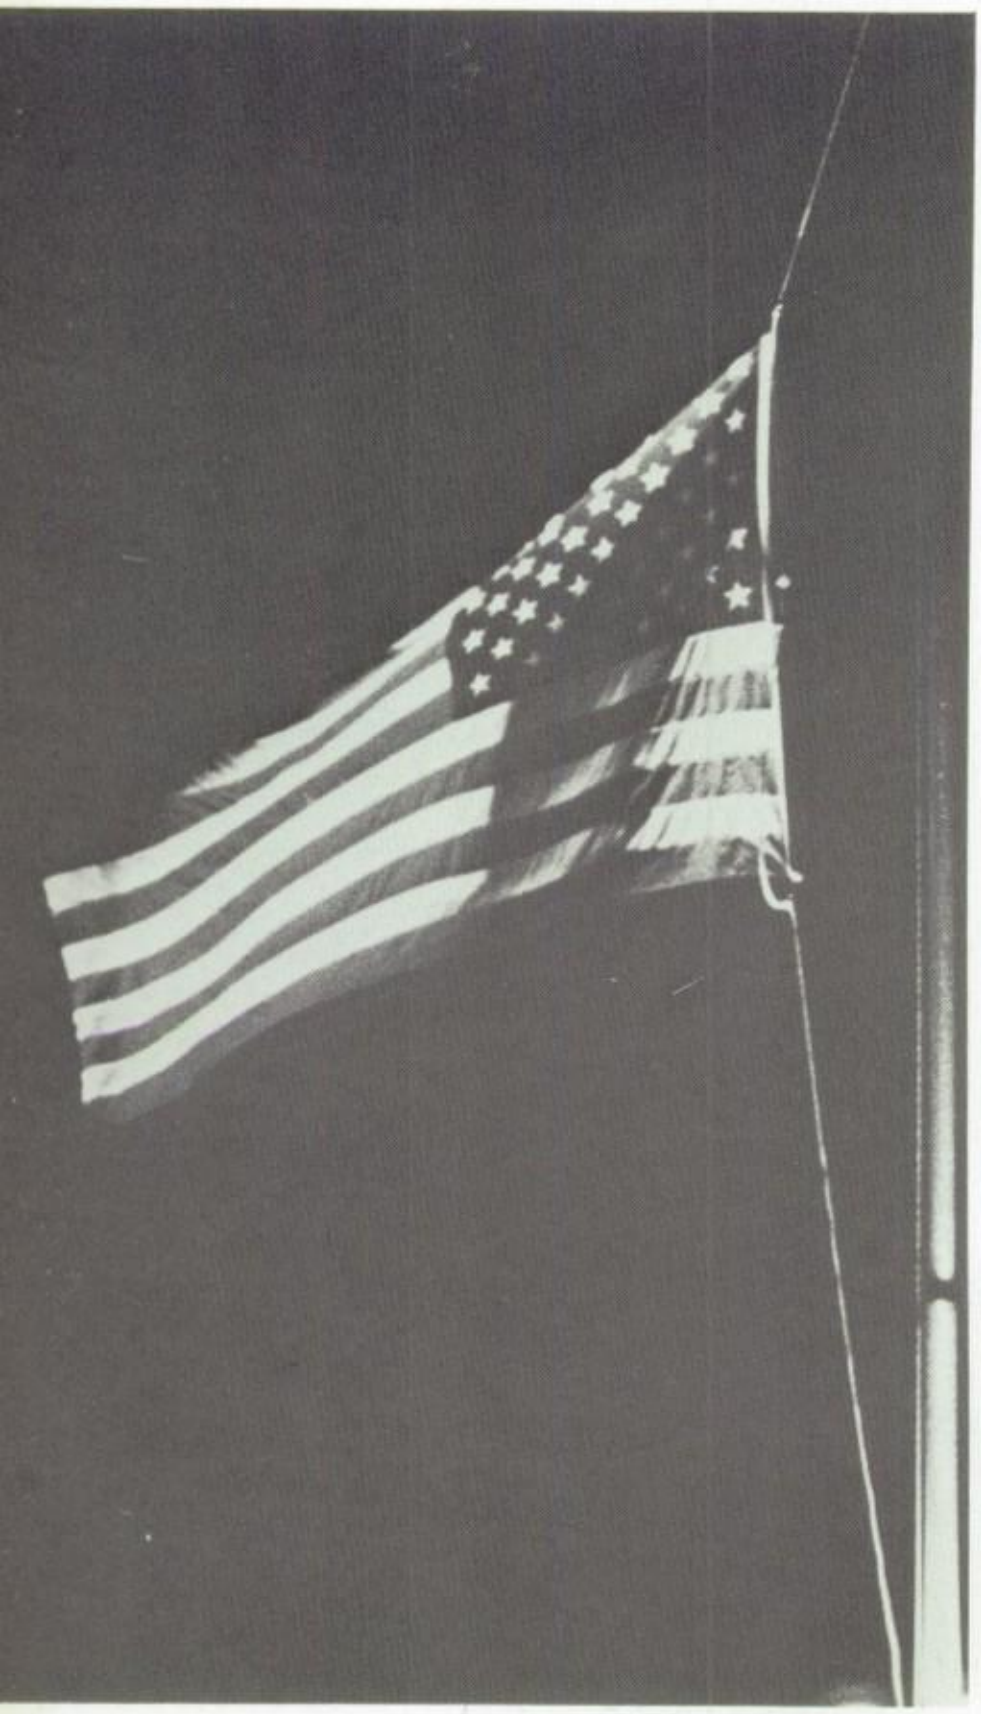
Jack

Values Stabilize an Ever Changing World



Allegiance; the abstract quality that molds individuals into a cohesive group.

Through education the mass becomes aware of traditional values:
allegiance, duty, religion,
and the search for knowledge
. . . These values form the basis of personal principles which the individual uses to guide his future
and evaluate his society.

The individual obligation to meet responsibility; sacrifice to uphold our democratic society.

Laughter, Frivolity Lighten Life of Knights

The pulsating tempo of a combo,
The cacophony of sputtering mufflers,
The give and take of friendship,
The organized confusion of group activity,
The solemnity of solitary introspection,
The fulfillment of shared experience
. . . These counter-balance the serious side of education.

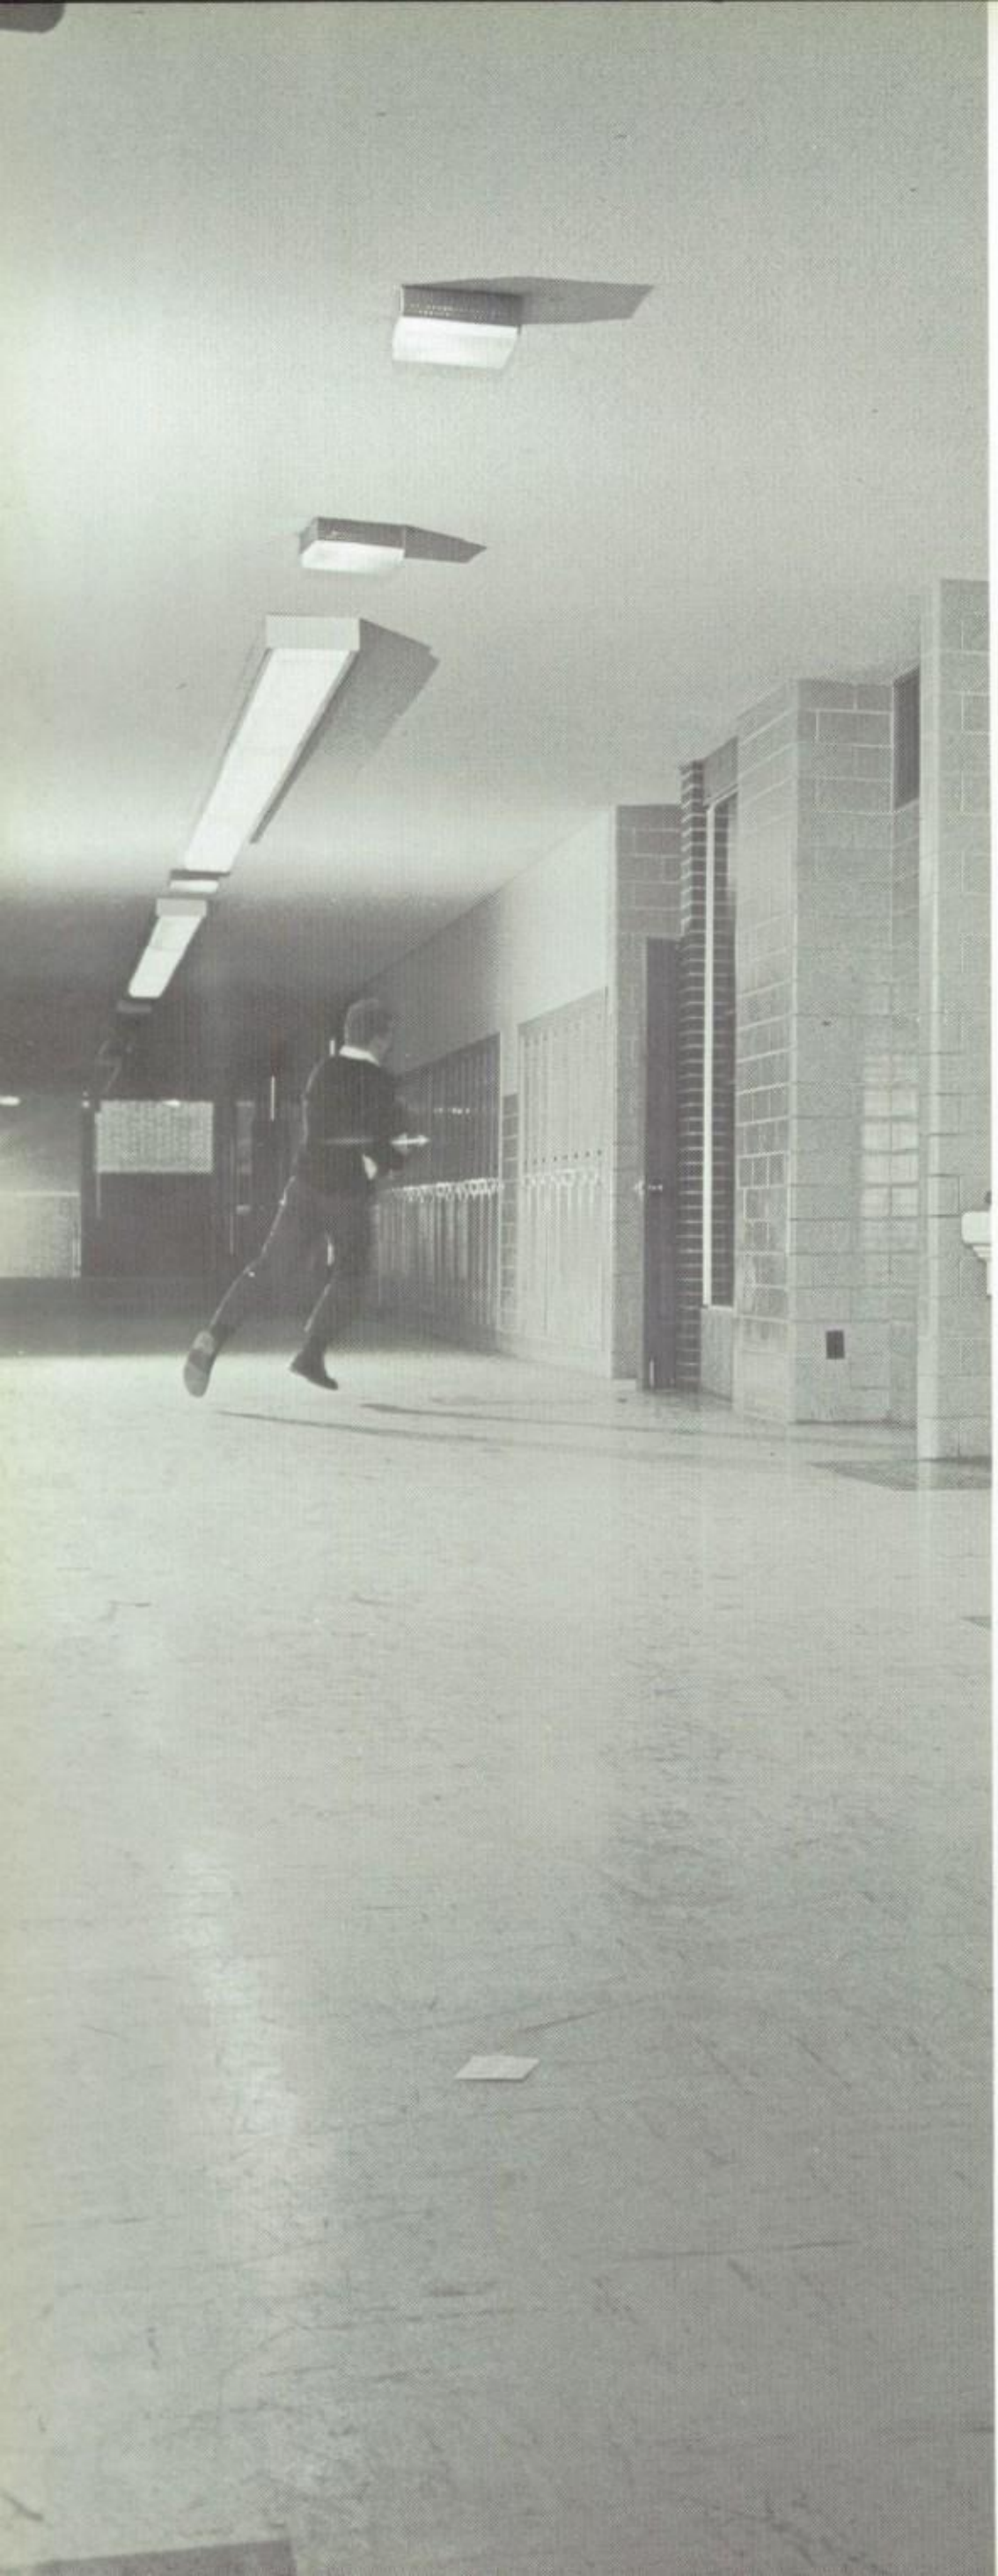
Boys sharing a common interest; contributions to turn an idea into reality.

The massive movement of a crowd to music — synchronized, yet varied with interpretation.

Goals are fulfilled by individual effort and group organization.



Christy,
Can't believe a riot
this year knowing
you. Hope we'll see each other next year too. Gerry

Administration Shift Provides New Duties

Director of Athletics Darwin Salestrom arranges for bus trips to out-of-town athletic events and handles money for activity ticket installments.

A new trend change began in the administrative department. Faculty members assumed more authoritative duties as traditional administrative personnel shifted responsibilities.

Don Darnell became assistant principal in charge of student affairs, Rex Mercer moved from his position as dean of boys to vice-principal, and Darwin Salestrom became director of athletics. A newcomer to the staff, Jim Huge was appointed as a second assistant principal, in charge of instruction.

In his second year as principal of Southeast, Dr. Wesley Lauterbach continued to reexamine school policies concerning student problems and activities.

Assistant Principals Don Darnell and Jim Huge check second semester registration on IBM schedule sheets.

Seniors Take Over Traditional Positions

Seniors eagerly met the challenge offered them by last year's graduates, realizing that this would be a year of opportunity and greater responsibility. Guidance classes placed emphasis upon preparation for the future as aspiring seniors wrote aptitude tests and filled out college entrance applications and employment forms.

This was also a year of development. Scholastically, spiritually, and socially, Southeast Seniors grew to be more well-rounded individuals.

With baccalaureate and graduation came the realization that this was not the end, but rather the beginning of a new phase in their lives.

Ideal Scholars Reach Top Three Per Cent

Linda Grant

The Class of '66 earned more scholastic honors than any other class in the history of Southeast. There were record numbers of National Merit and Regents winners, Merit Letters of Commendation, and Regents Alternates.

The fifteen seniors ranking in the Upper 3% deserve special recognition, as theirs was a difficult achievement. They maintained a grade average of 1.246 or higher for five semesters.

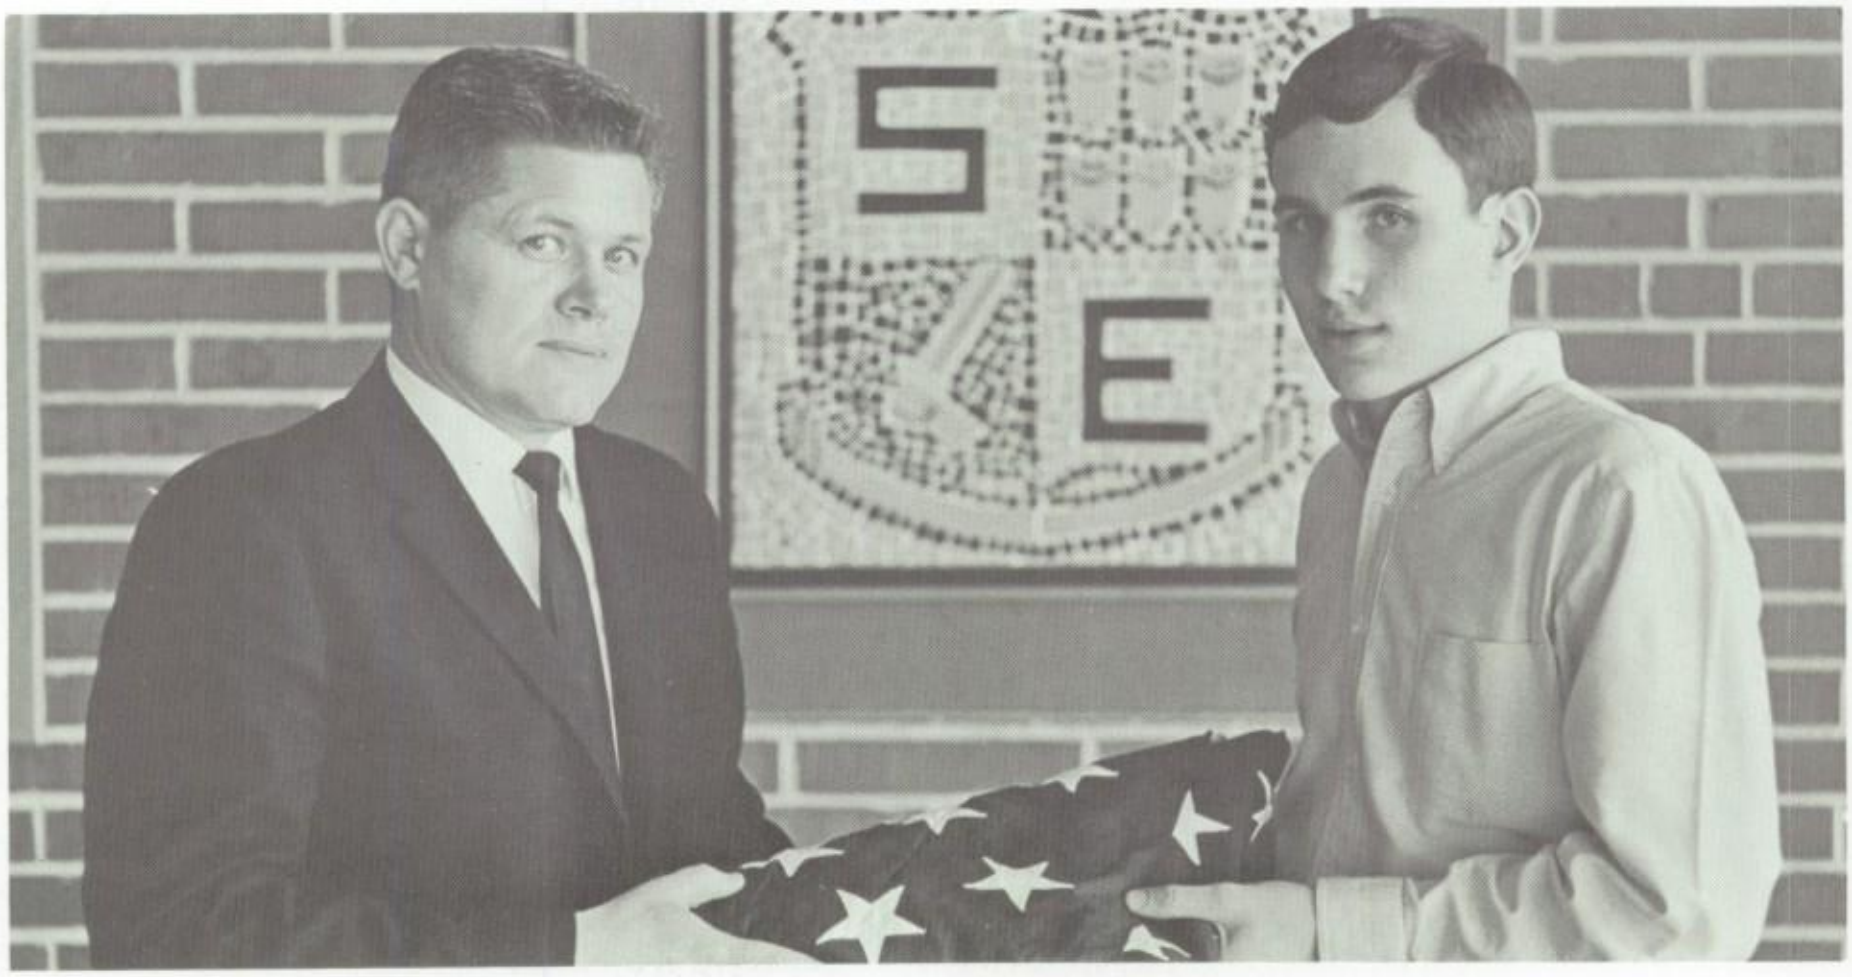
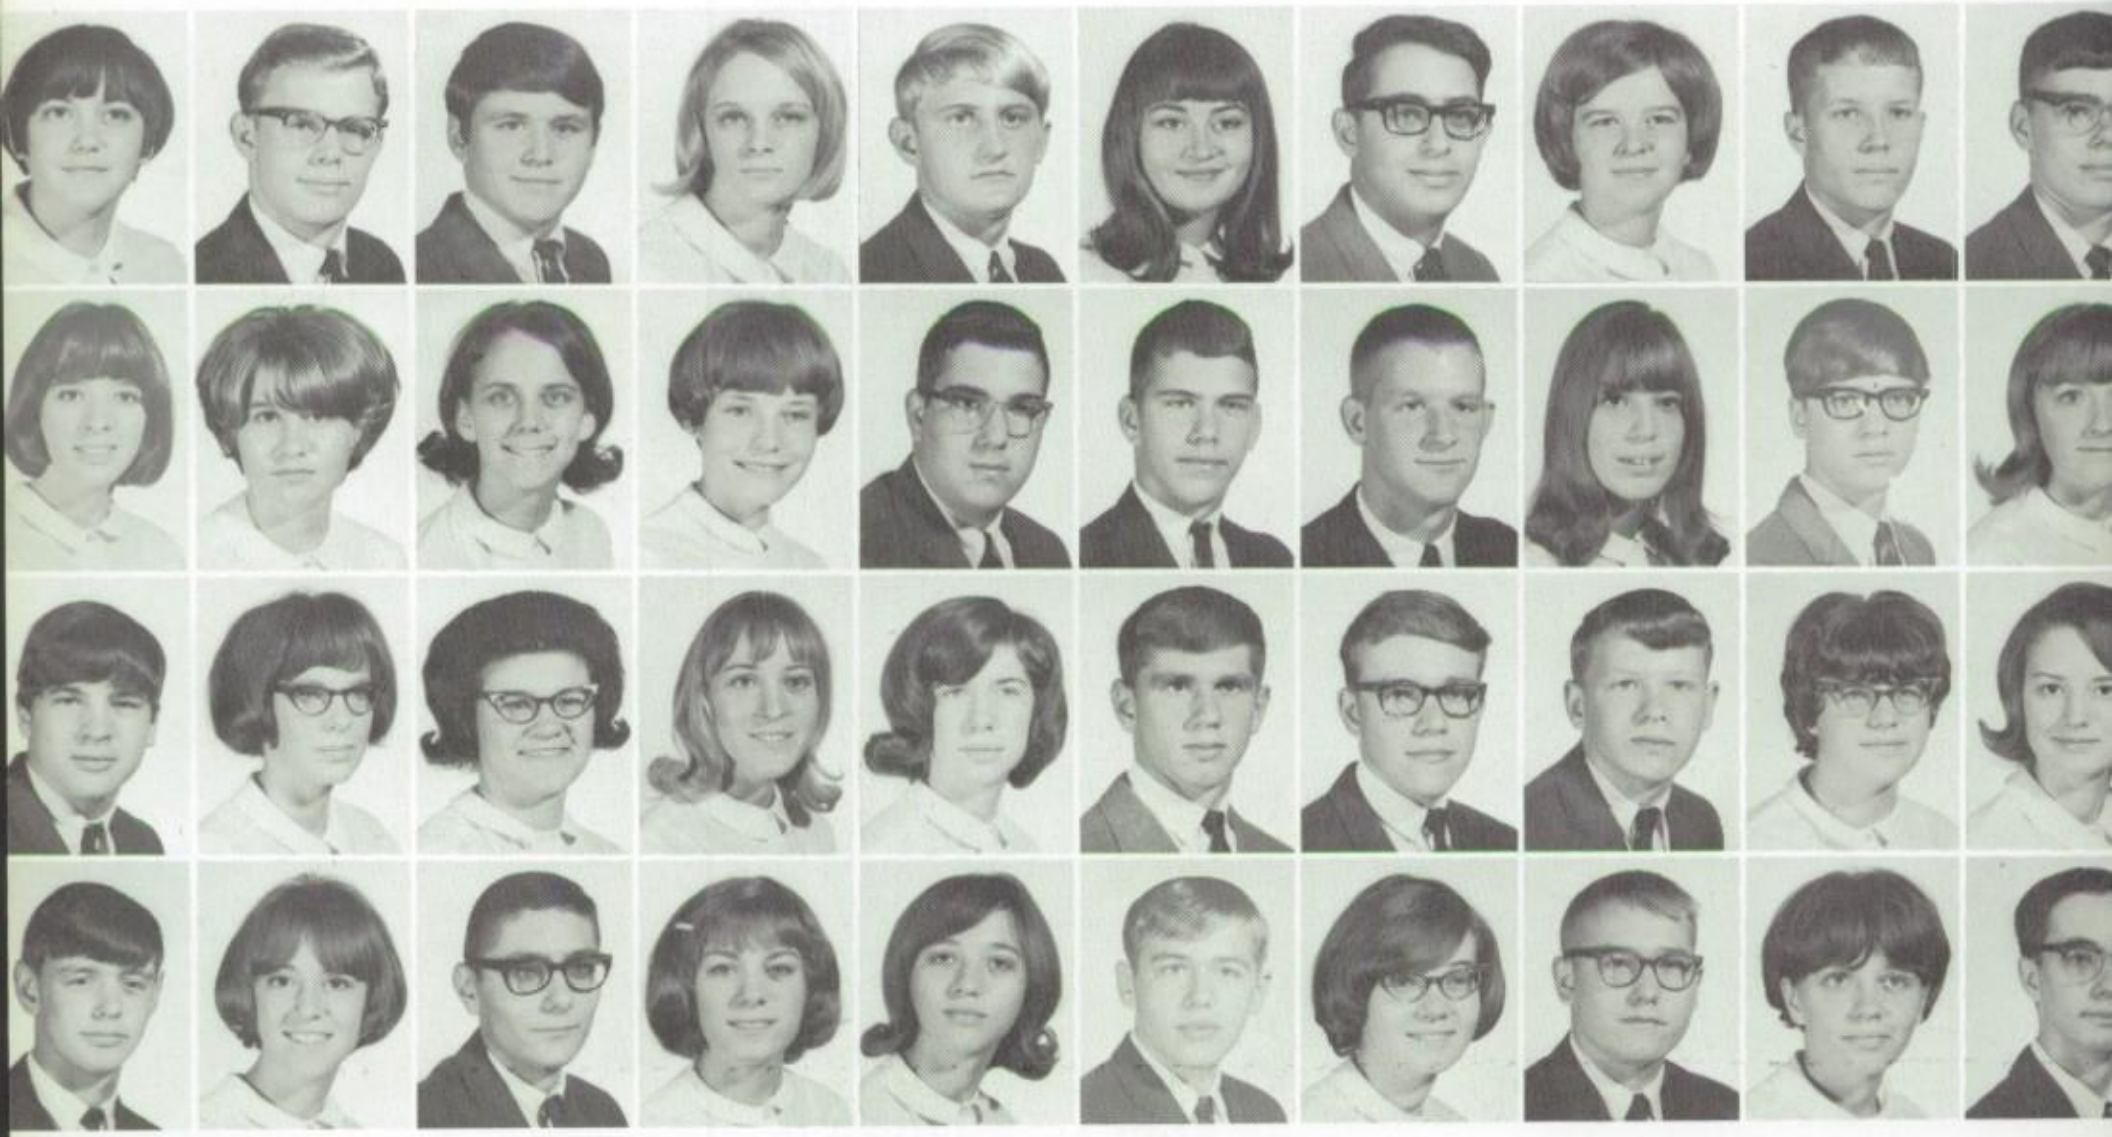
AFS Exchange Program Enters Tenth Year

Realizing the possibilities of their trips abroad, Southeast's AFS finalists Sarah Olson and Dave Moessner choose countries they would like to visit.

Juniors Create New Goals and Continue



Junior Bob Wolfe presents Dr. Wesley V. Lauterbach with a flag which was flown over the Capitol. He received the flag while attending the United States Senate Youth Program in Washington, D. C., this January.



Southeast Traditions

With a year of experience behind them, juniors set out to establish themselves as individuals as well as continue past traditions. Their leadership abilities were brought out in the areas of sports, clubs, and academics. Other goals were AFS, cheerleader, planning a successful Junior-Senior Prom and County Government Day.

Junior class sponsors were Thomas Douglas, George Eisele, Mrs. Marie Galloway, John Garrison, Arthur Gordon, Tom Keefe, Tom Keene, Miss Lynn Lanham, Gunnar Overgaard, Mrs. Mary Rassekh, and Jerry Trimble.

Junior class officers were: Scott Wright, president; Jack Brickson, vice-president; Dave Moessner, secretary; John Icenogle, treasurer.

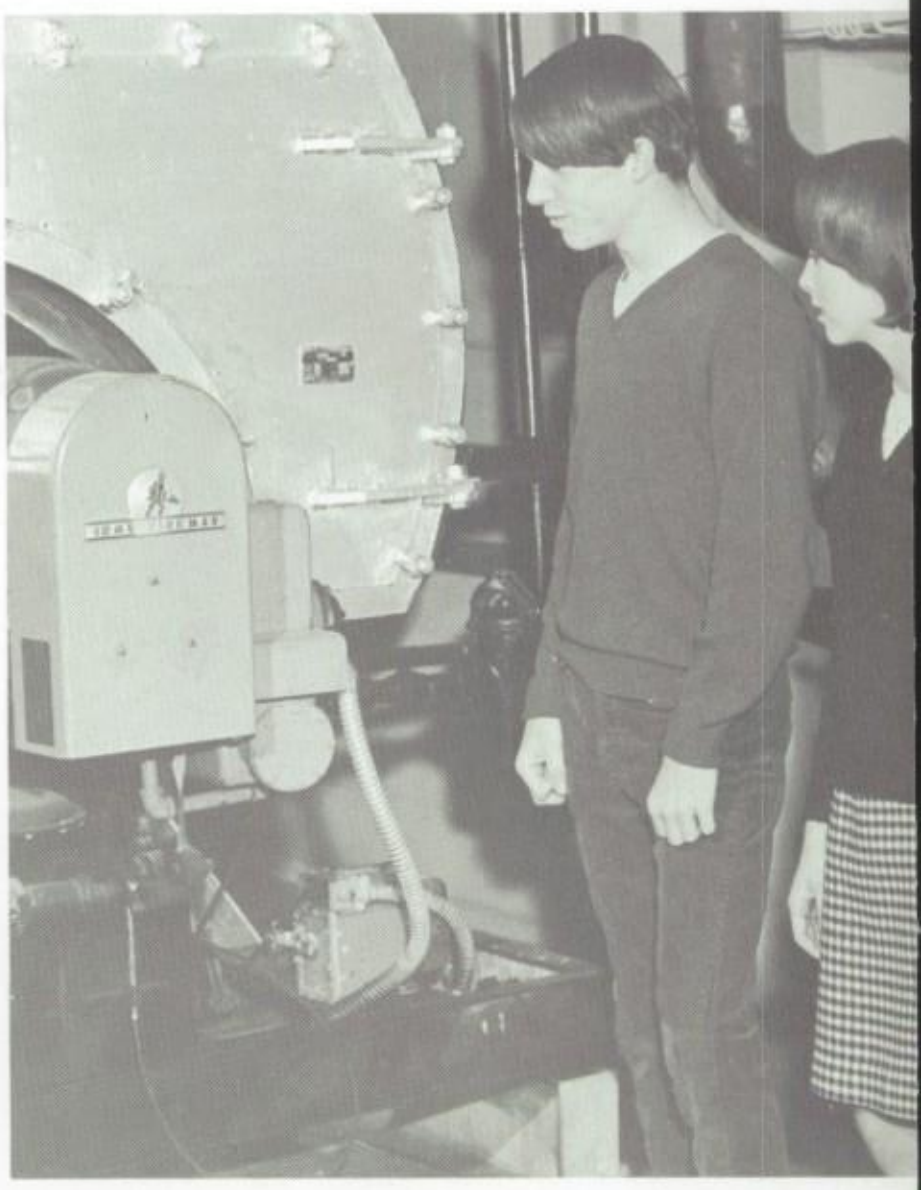
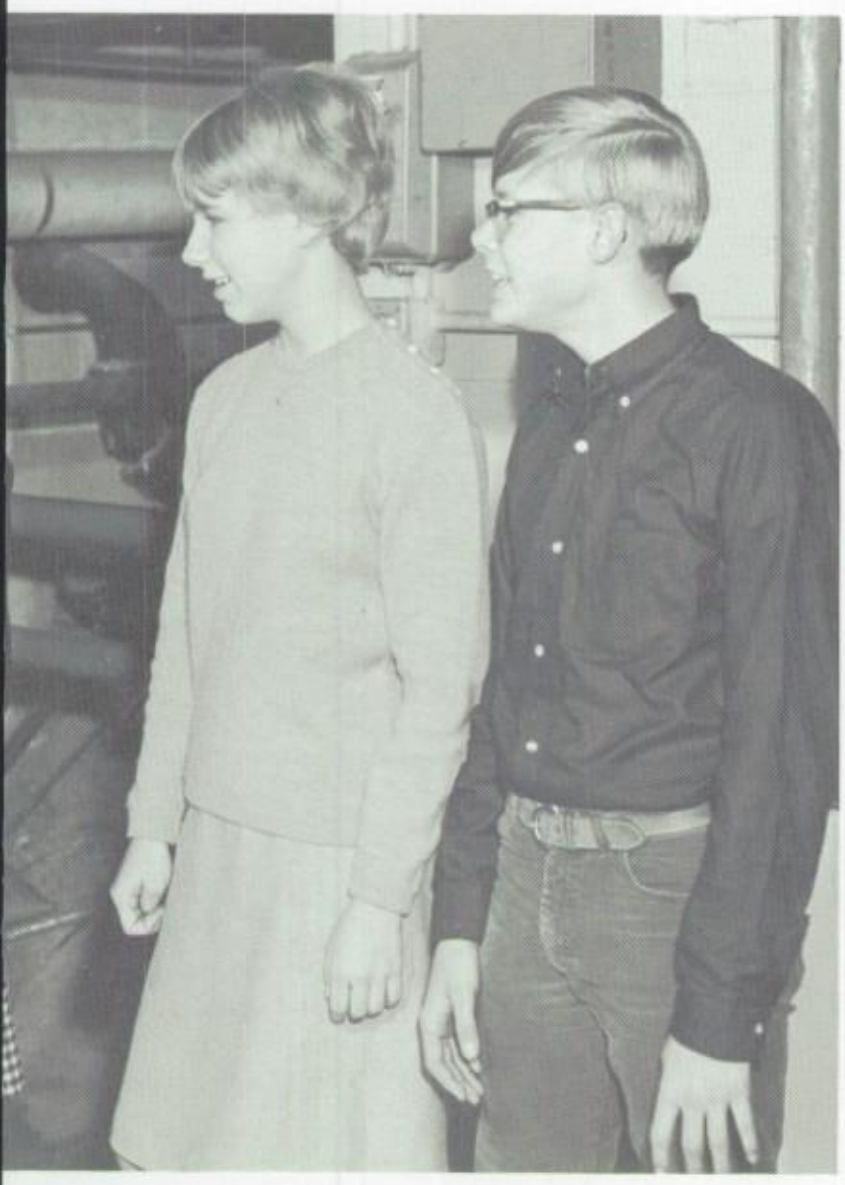
Southeast Grows



Sophomore class officers—Alan McCracken, vice-president; Kay Calkins, secretary; Gwen Hlava, treasurer; Ed Wekesser, president — discover the source of the noise in the classroom registers.

With Largest Sophomore Class in History



Ready, willing, and eager to attain new knowledge, sophomores plunged headlong into high school life. The largest class in history, 565, they added to the mass confusion in the halls.

Puzzled at first by accepted traditions, they quickly proved themselves a big asset to Southeast. Present in all aspects of the school, sophomores supported athletics with undaunted spirit, increased club memberships and worked zealously on service projects.

In their first year, they learned how to keep their individuality and contribute to the image of Southeast.

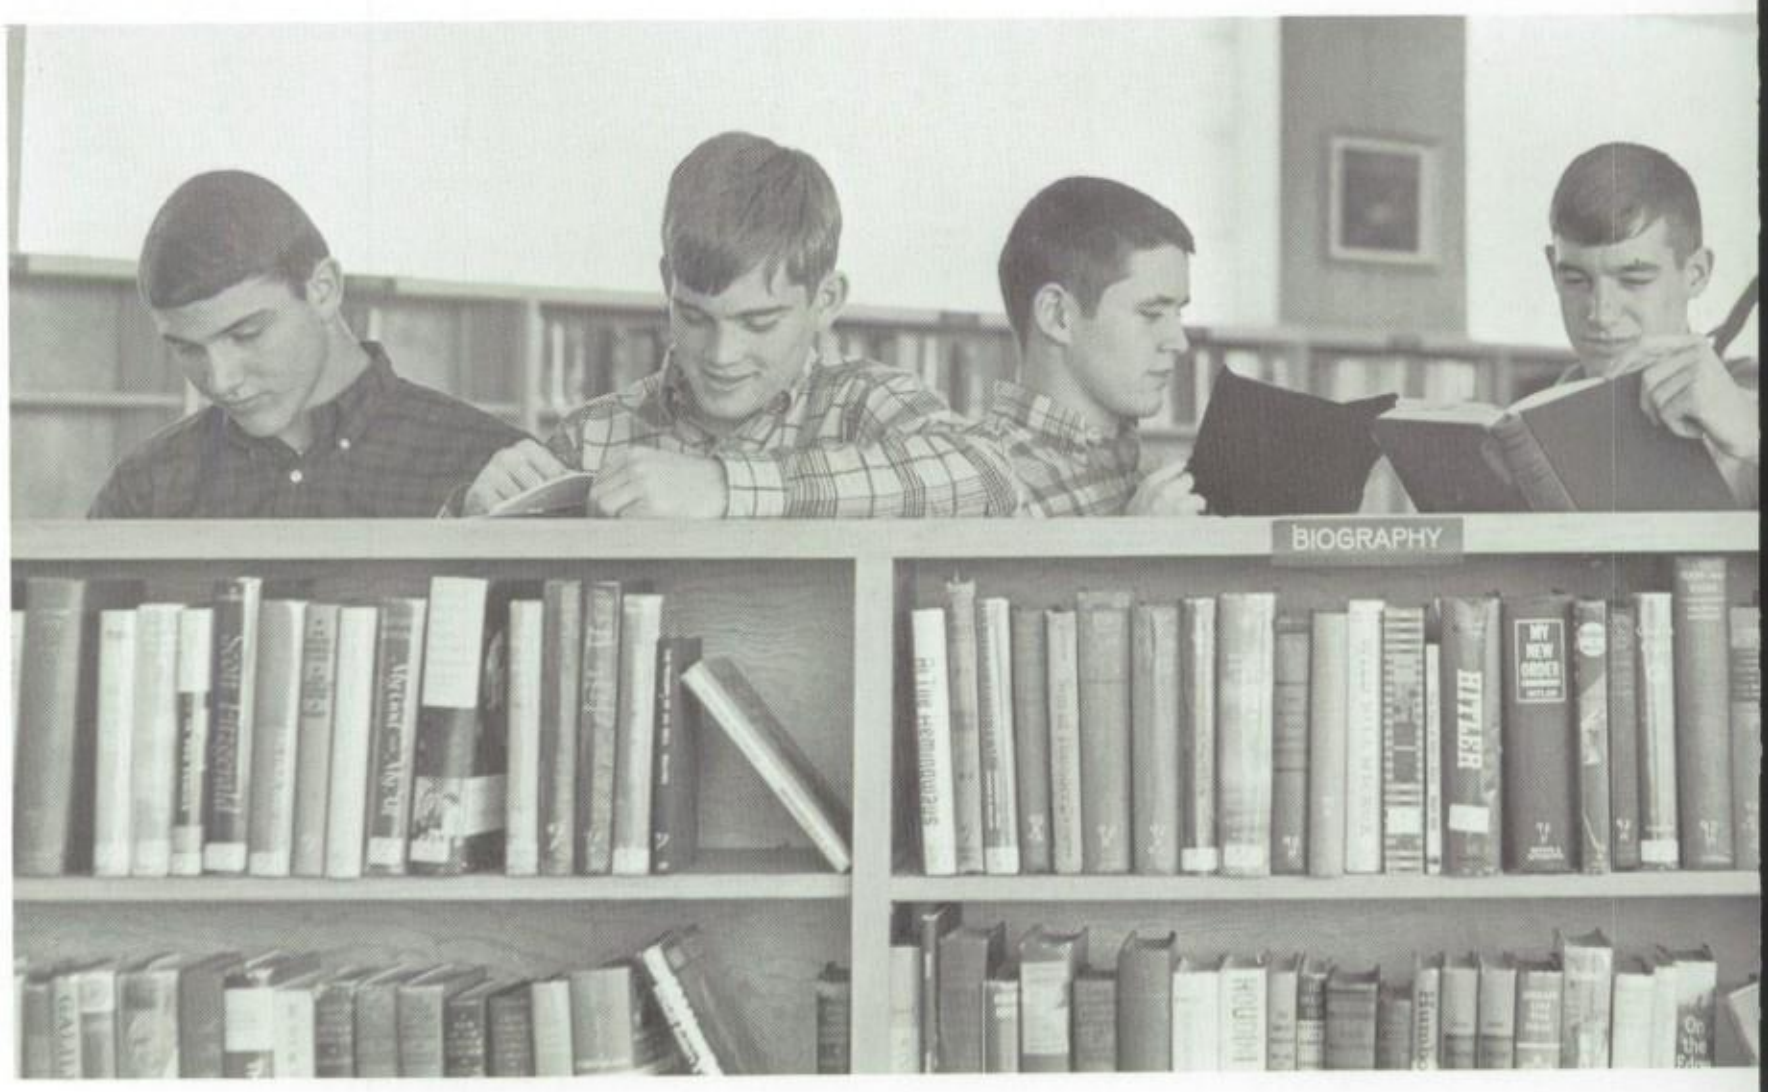
ACADEMICS

Students Work To Improve English Skills

A wide variety of English courses gave students the opportunity to better their capabilities and understanding of the language. American literature and grammar were the subjects of study for sophomores taking T.V. English, while English literature classes studied and analyzed plays and several other pieces of writing. Senior themes were all of a sudden a reality for those in composition classes and nightly trips to the library became necessities.

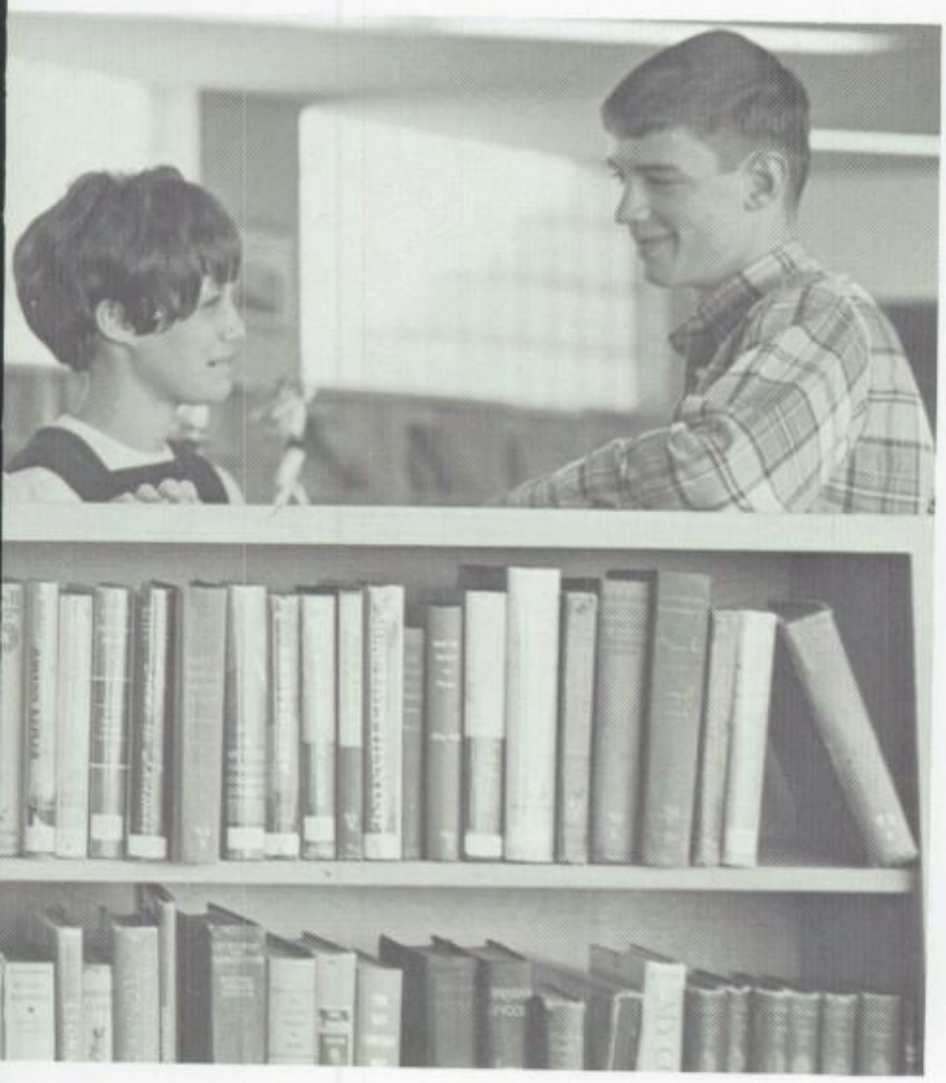
Kay Blazek gets help on a question concerning pep club from senior composition instructors Sally Cramer and June Williams. These teachers along with Kathy Jurgens and Pat Joynt took time out to serve as the club's sponsors.

Students find the library to be one of the most stimulating and vital places in the school.



"Up a little and to the left." Mary Commers and Mara Murphy get a few pointers on setting up their window display from another experimental English teacher, Henrietta Van Loh.

Assistant Cathy Grundmann saves librarians Mary Douglass and Claudell Gerlach a little time by signing passes and checking out books.



Students Discover English Courses To Be

"You've got to be kidding!" sighs Jim Reents after being trapped by Paula Jones in order to practice some makeup techniques learned in drama class.

Mike Zeman finds himself learning the hard way that the best place to do homework is home.

English instructors Mary Rassekh, Neva Reel and Elinor Mack, find that semester break offers no rest as they attempt to register final grades.

Difficult but Most Often Worth the Effort

"Please, I'd rather do it myself!" jokes Bill Jennings as he receives a little constructive criticism from Dan Boren and Dave Feerhusen concerning his theme for senior composition.

"It's only Shakespeare!" exclaims Sandy Campbell as she and Jan Harris inspect a pile of albums.

Senior composition teachers Pat Joynt and Janice Kinney decide to join forces and correct some past papers.

To get a headstart Sue Henessey, Nola McClellan, and Diane Dalton begin reading one of those long French stories while filing out of class.

Latin teacher Lois Althouse finds that teaching doesn't end with the 3:15 bell as she stays after school to help Anne Olson with some homework.

Modern Facilities

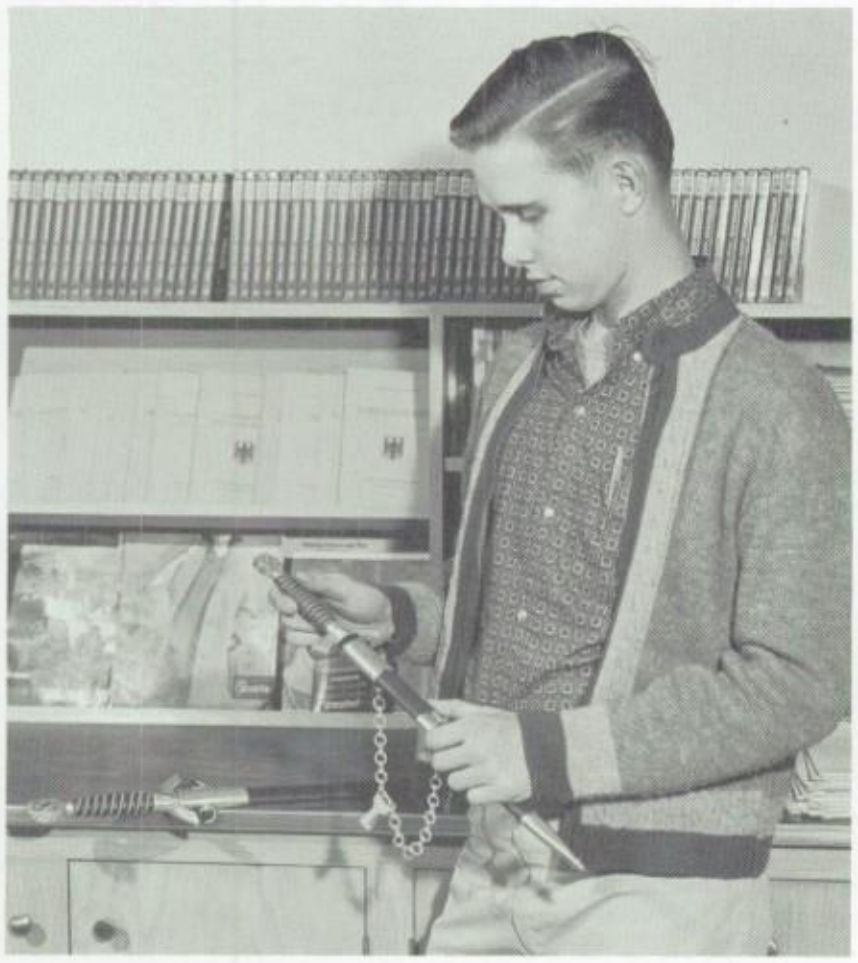
Beginning Spanish, French, and German classes learned to comprehend dialogues, pronunciation drills and basic grammar, while more advanced classes mastered translating model sentences and stories with the emphasis on conversation. With ALM fully underway, hours of endless concentration were spent in the lab practicing correct pronunciation by repeating sentences or phrases spoken in foreign countries.

Students found Latin stressed the memorization of conjugations, and vocabulary used in written translations.

French teachers Linda Robinson and Edna Trowbridge retreat to the teachers' lounge after school and look at a few points of interest in France.

"All right, who took the staples!" German teacher William Hammelmann finds a scarcity of supplies has foiled his ingenious decorative efforts.

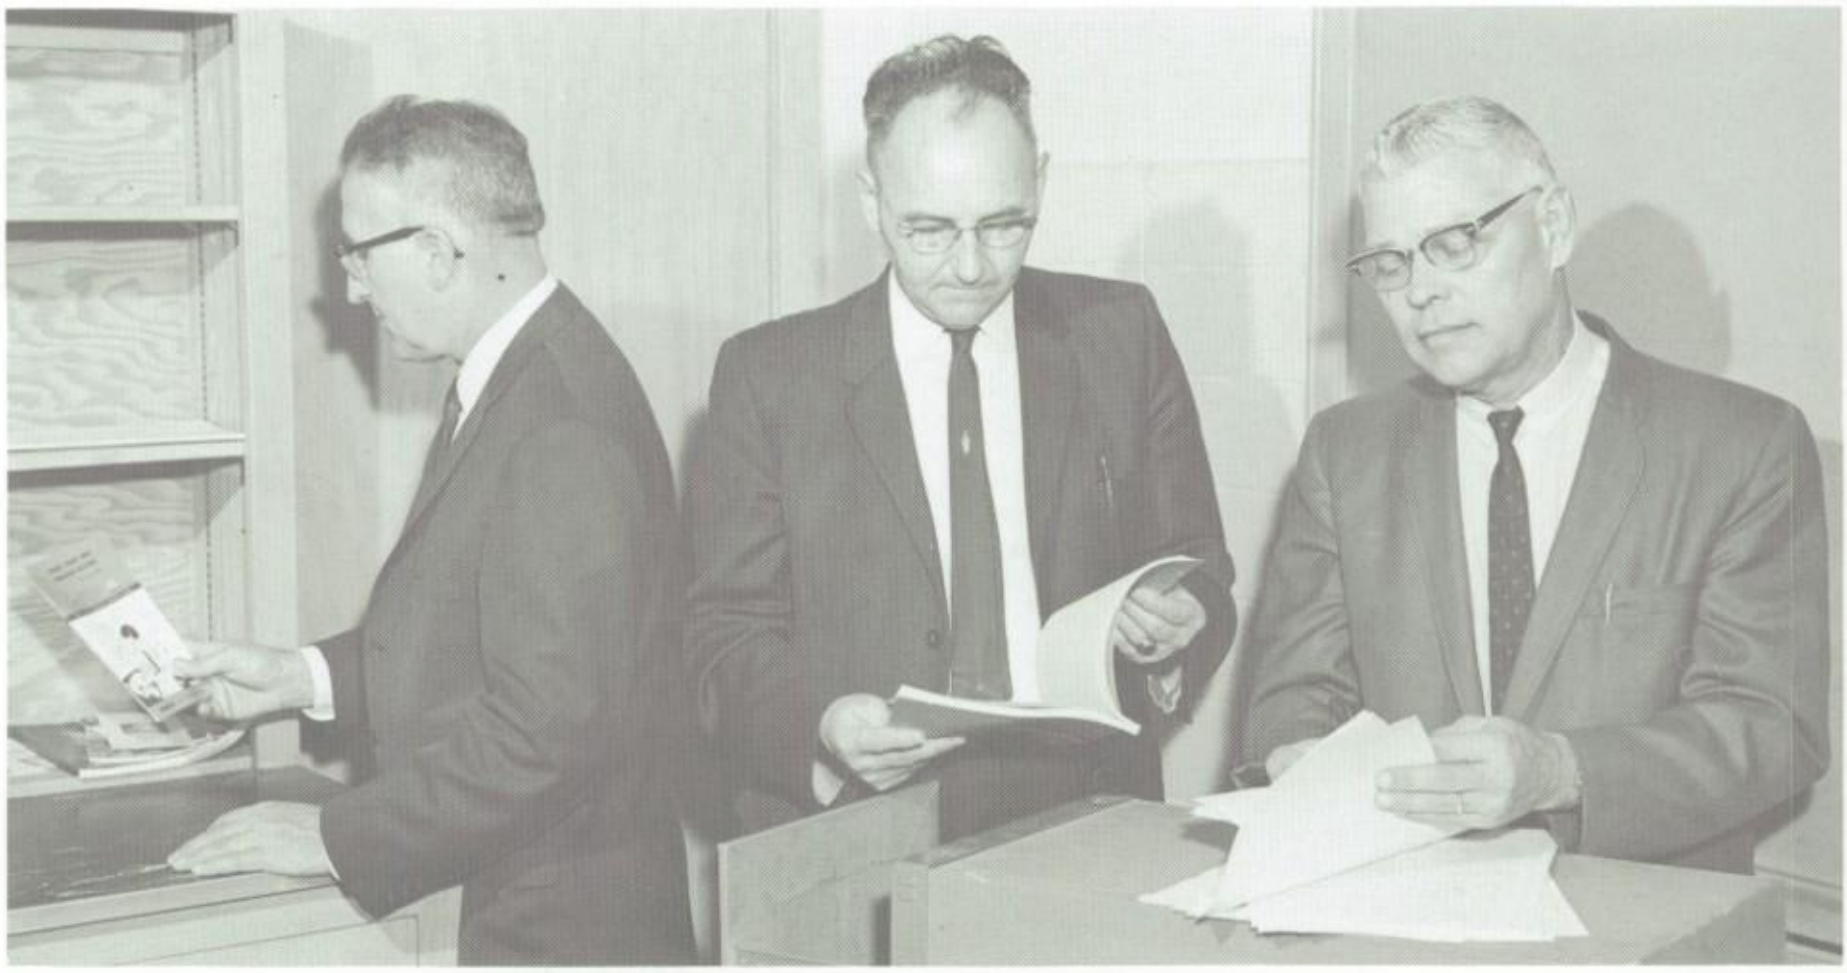
Assist in Foreign Language Instruction



Rod Uhlman, intrigued by Nazi swords, discovers studying German is not just learning fundamentals.

George Pearce and Sarah Scott, Spanish instructors find that brushing up pronunciation is helpful.

Guidance Courses Advise Students and Aid



Pamphlets, forms, folders . . . Sophomore guidance counselors Wayne Bates, Martin Buschkamp and Wayne Wilson get together and organize the endless stream of papers filled out by their classes.

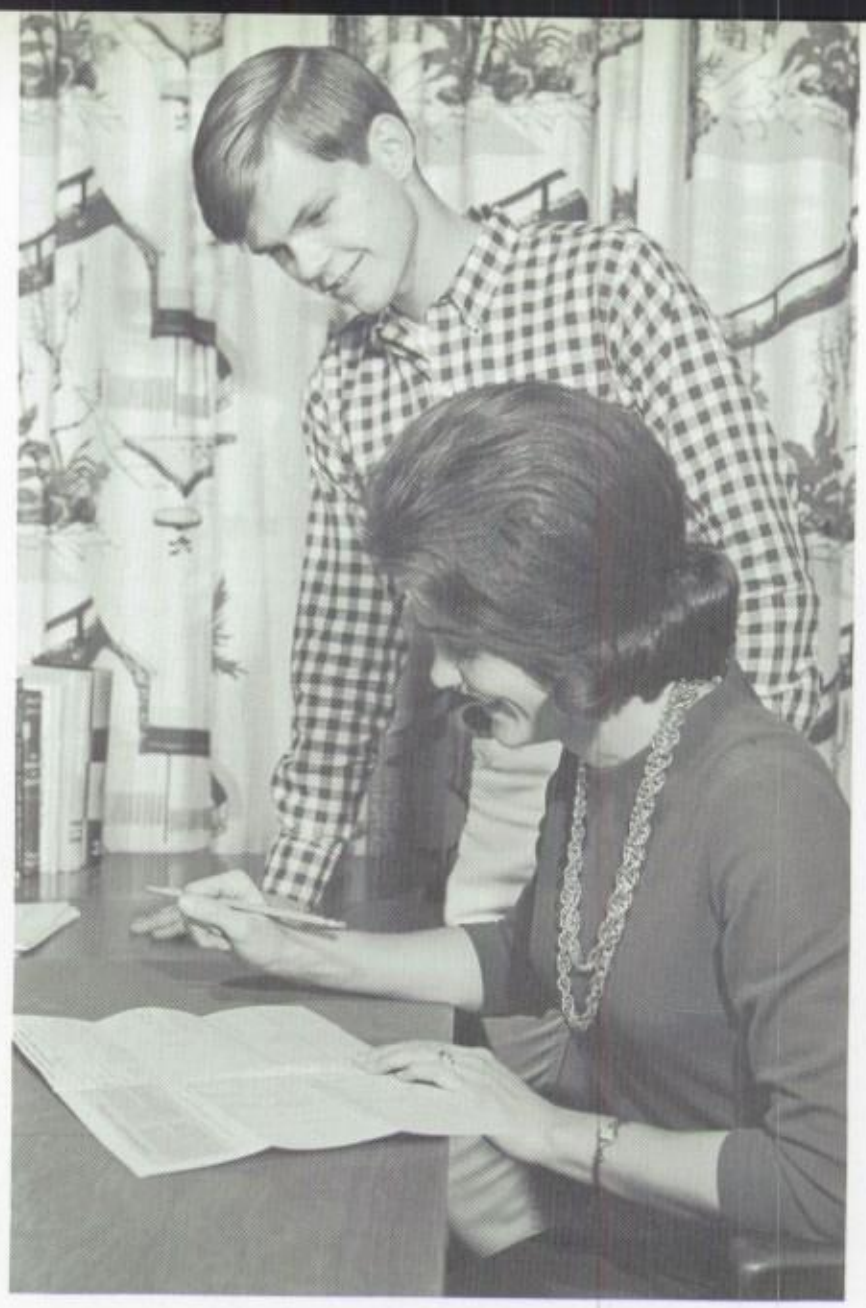
"Not another form!" Junior guidance counselors Thomas Keefe and Lynne Lanham look over a CLARION poll.

Senior guidance counselors Charles Hemphill and Loma Faling check the dates and times of a visiting college representative.

In Future Planning

Private conferences with guidance counselors were a common occurrence with students as each received at least one period of separate counseling in which past school records, test results and future plans were discussed.

Besides planning their educational programs, sophomores busied themselves by looking into different occupations. Juniors considered various personality traits and attended conferences held by college representatives. Between the necessary preparations for graduation, seniors studied and discussed a love and marriage unit.



Joel Thorson enlists the aid of senior guidance counselor Marjorie Hougland to help him out with a confusing college application.

Printed or engraved? Paneled or plain card? Nancy Thorne, Nancy Tinstman and Barie Schultz discover that graduating involves more than a cap and gown as they attempt to decide on graduation announcements.

Fine Arts Classes Strive for Perfection

Following the advice "practice makes perfect" are Gary Davis and Paul Austin, instrumental director.

Vespers, concerts, and the musical "Annie Get Your Gun" were produced with diligence and ability by the combined efforts of the music departments.

Sculpturing with clay, designing effective program covers, and creating various abstract objects kept artists busy while increasing their knowledge.

Max Bunker and John Cole, vocal instructors, find time to enjoy the organ and examine its parts.

Art teachers Donald Byorth and Adrianne Lambert don't agree. She says, "Mmm, it could be better."

Industrial arts instructors Dale Wismer and Robert Hall authoritatively discuss architectural blueprints.

Practical Arts Classes Develop Techniques

A constant hum from the wood shop buzz saws reported that future carpenters diligently worked on their wood working projects. Architectural aptitude was applied to design house plans, as knowledge of electronics was used to build electrical equipment.

Tantalizing aromas filled the air with their origin in the foods classes open to both boys and girls. As girls made clothes for themselves in sewing classes, home planning courses taught them to be more capable and domestic.

Nancy Nix discovers a clothing course offers more than is expected as Lorraine Adolphson, home economics teacher, helps her make holiday adornments.

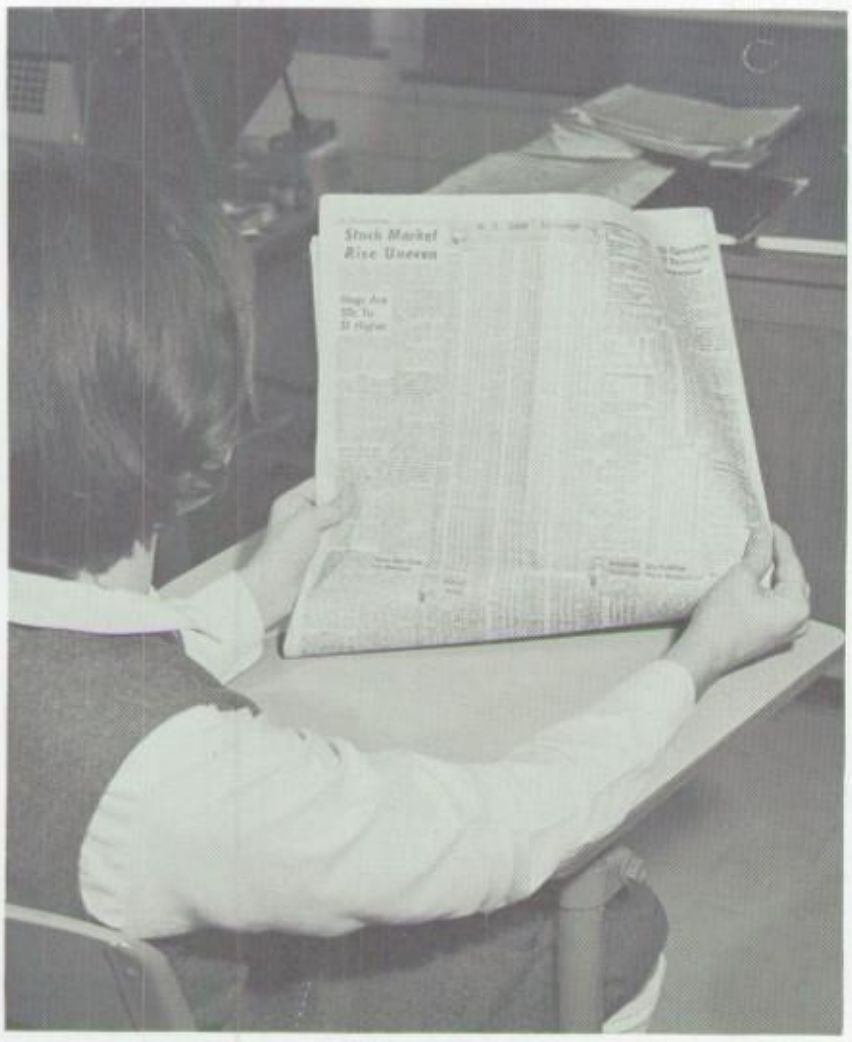
John Garrison, Grace Reiff and Don Ferguson, world history teachers, discuss the value of using the tape recorder in their classes. They feel it might make history "come alive."

Students Delve Into Backgrounds, Customs;

As world history students studied the rise and fall of the world's former powers, American history classes witnessed the birth of our nation and its struggle to become great. The basic fundamentals for our democracy were studied in government classes and economics, now a required course, supplied a complete understanding of the economic system and its function.

Students studying the history of the far East concentrated on oriental history by doing skits which provided entertainment as well as knowledge.

With a hint of anticipation, Alan Karle, economics teacher, checks the stock market report for a rise.



"Our stock is up ten points again!" Molly O'Brien finds economics educational but also profitable.

Bill Miller and Tom Douglas, American history teachers, catch a sneak preview of a film.

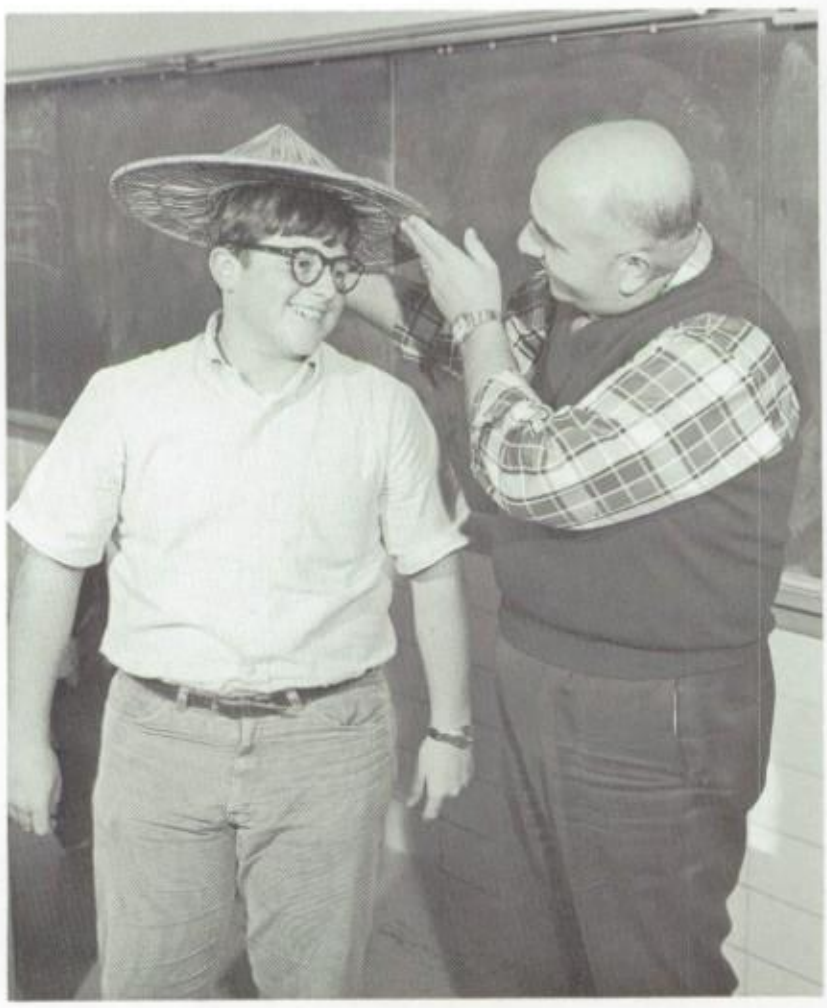
Analyze Their Effect on Today's World

Government teachers, Bill Stephenson and Bob Lohrberg, keep up on current world happenings.

Social Studies Presents Students a Basic

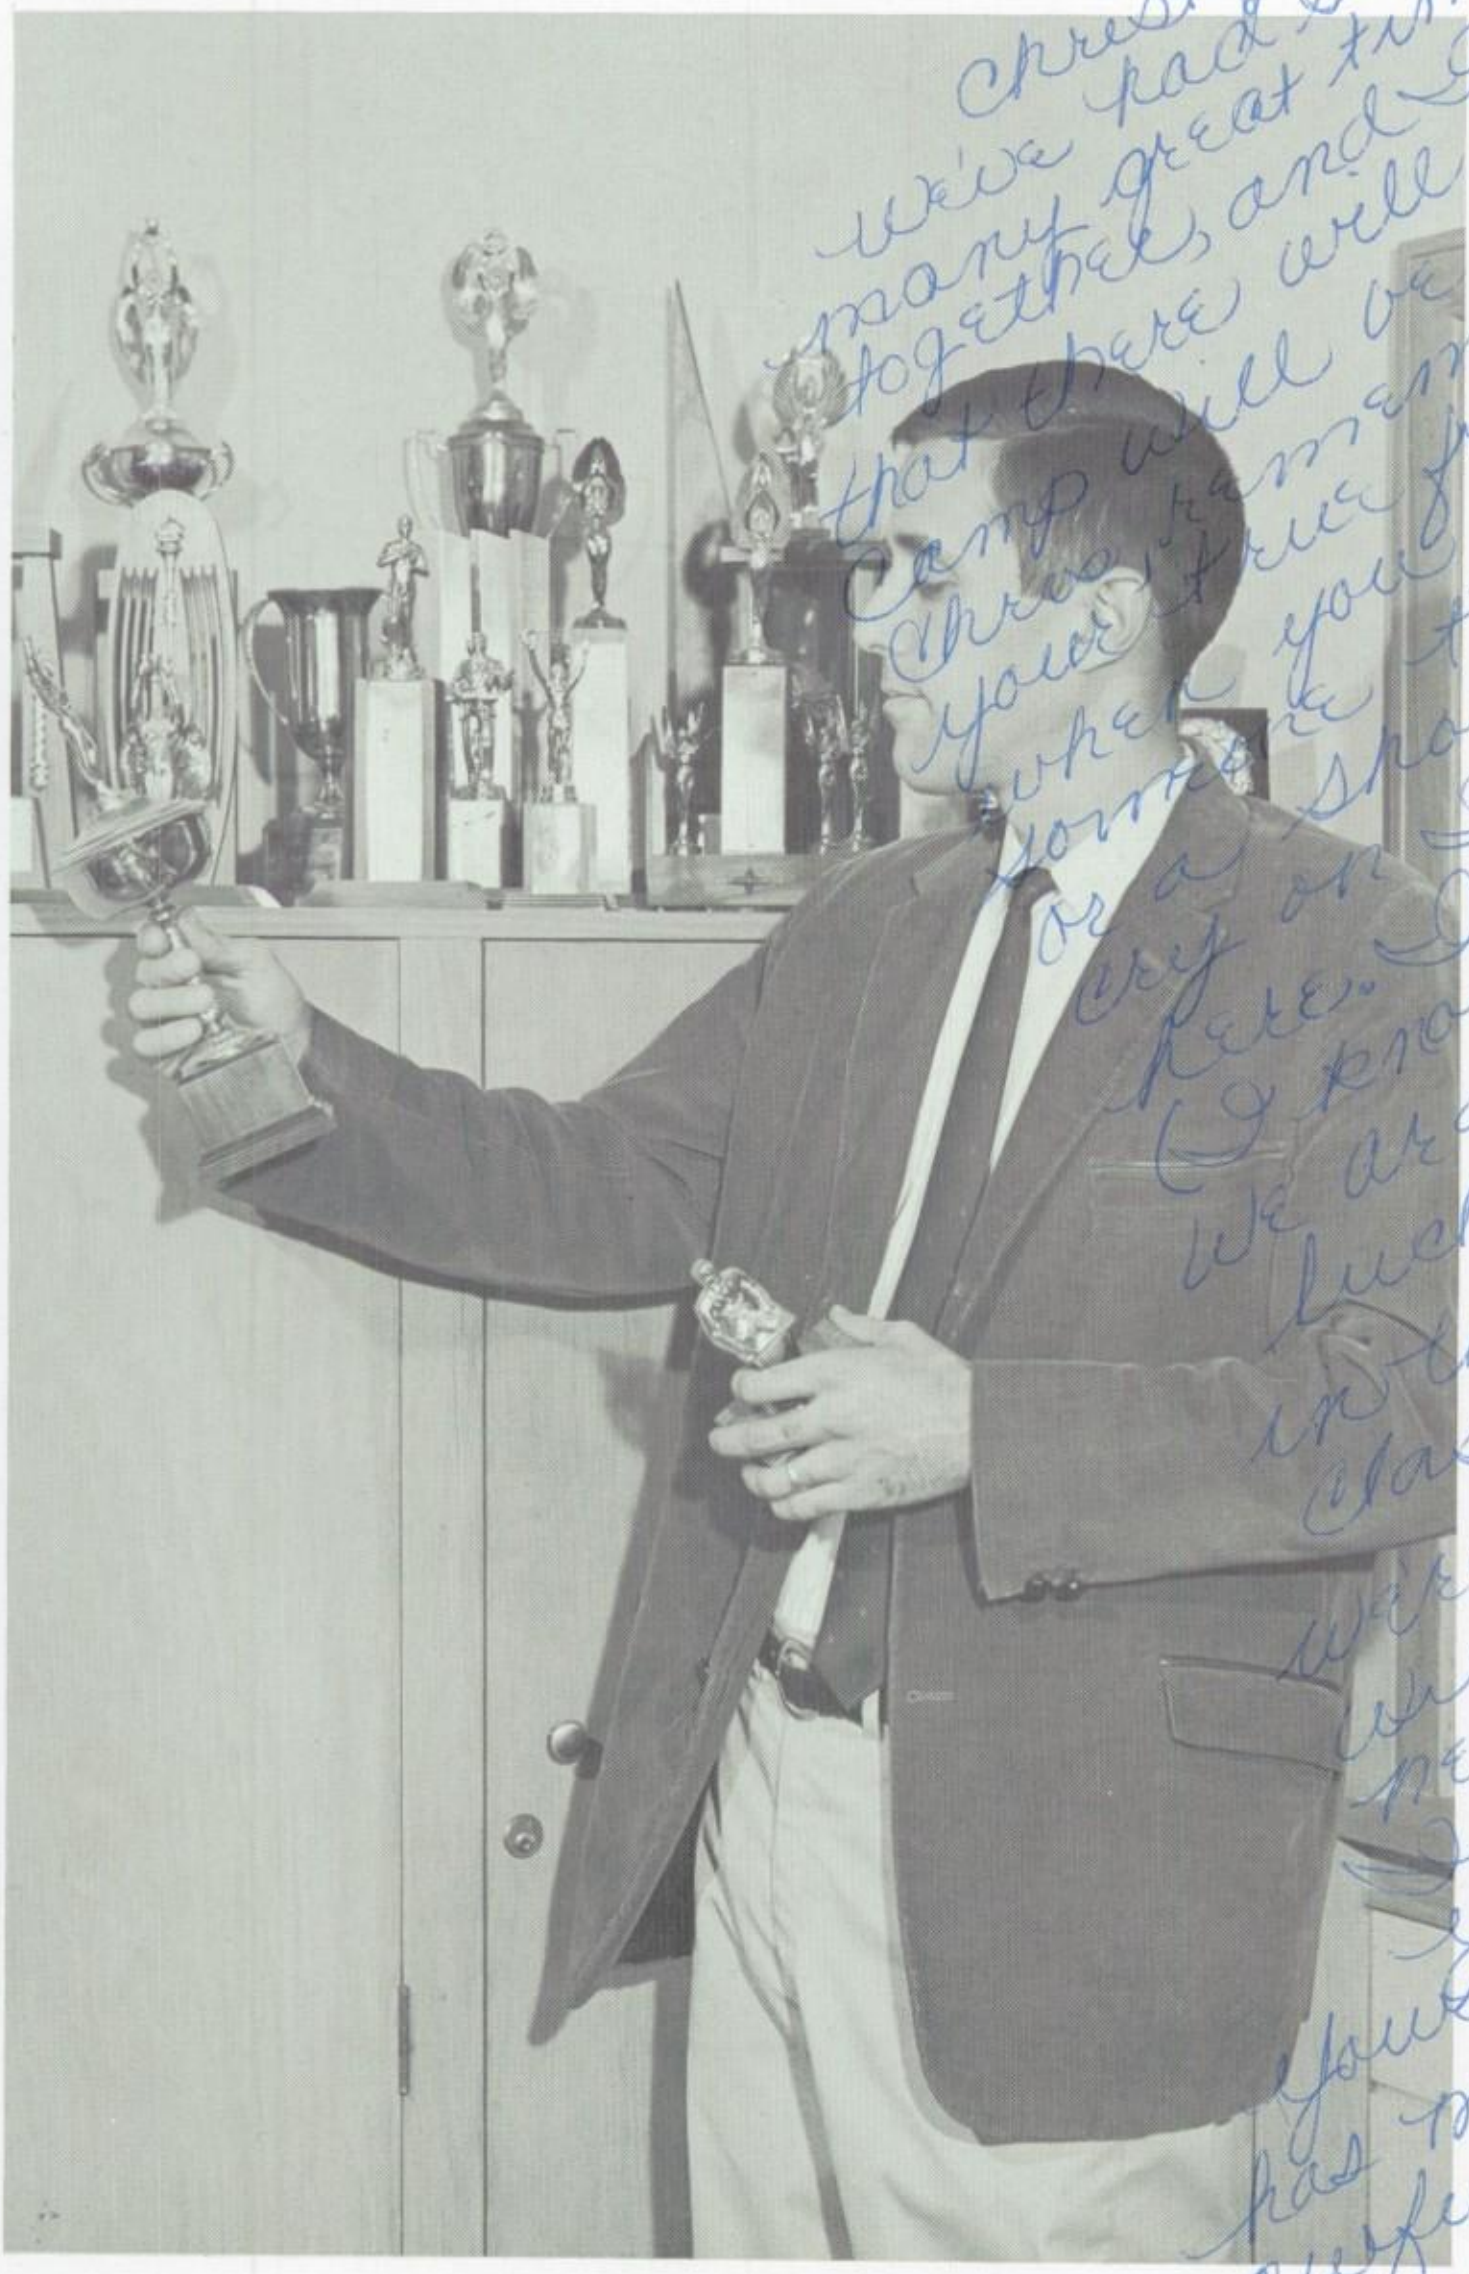
"Oriental beauties" Mary Ackerman, Linda Inman and Molly Murrell demonstrate the customs of the far East to "American sailor" Sid Pistner, as history comes alive in John Elliott's classroom.

To understand democracy at work, Steve Deurmeyer and Nancy Thompson review Congressional Records.



"Smile pretty!" jokes world history teacher John Elliott, as Bill Snyder models an oriental hat.

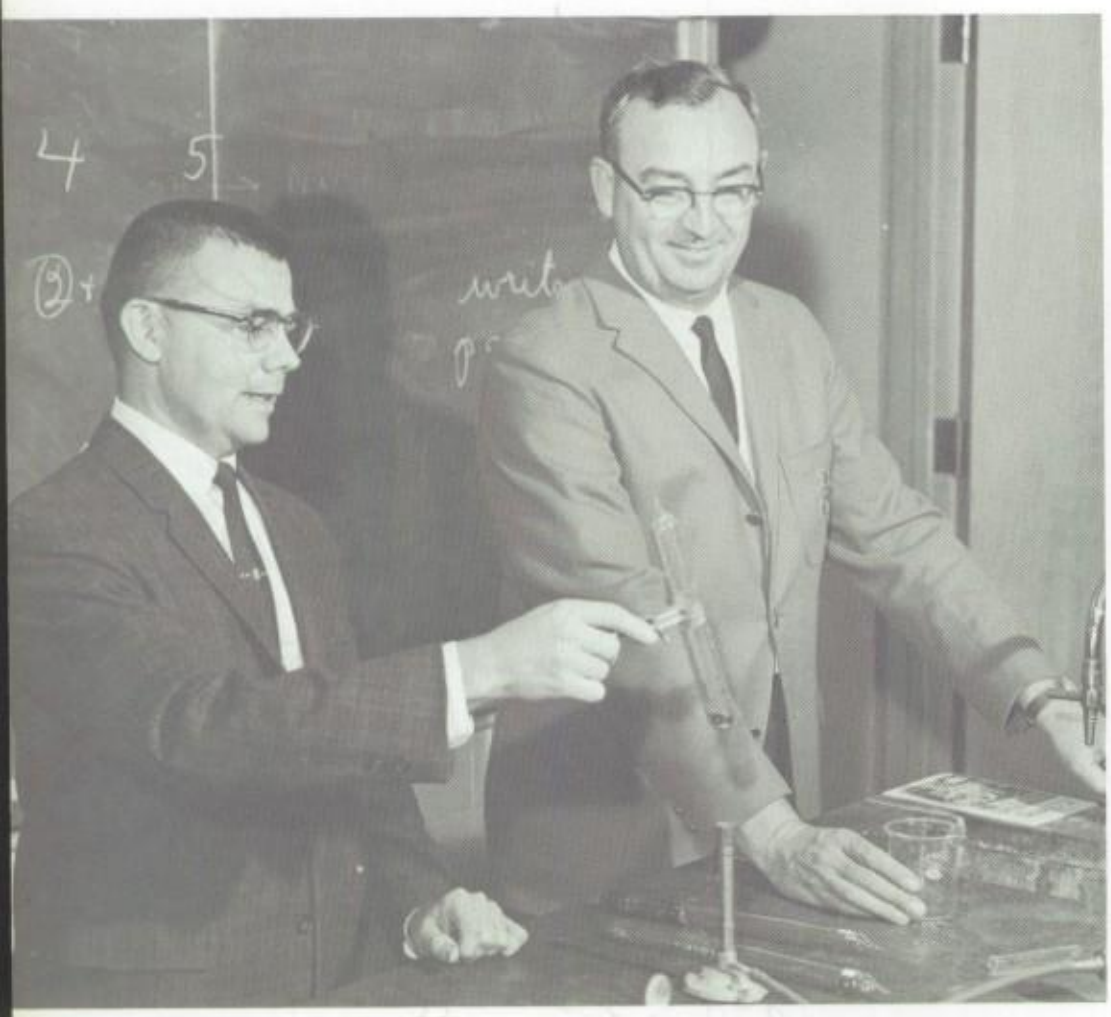
Understanding of Past and Present Events



"103 . . . 104 . . . 105 . . ." Philosophy instructor and debate coach Tom Keene proudly contributes a few more trophies to those which were won by the debate squad.

A Variety of Science Courses Finds Each

Man-eating plant? No, but biology teachers F. J. Dorais, L. J. Eckdahl and Flora Bergt investigate to be sure.



Joseph Dappen and Oscar Bretthorst, chemistry teachers, always find experiments worthwhile and rewarding.

Biology instructor Dick Mitchell finds class reports to be not only informative to students but interesting to the teacher.

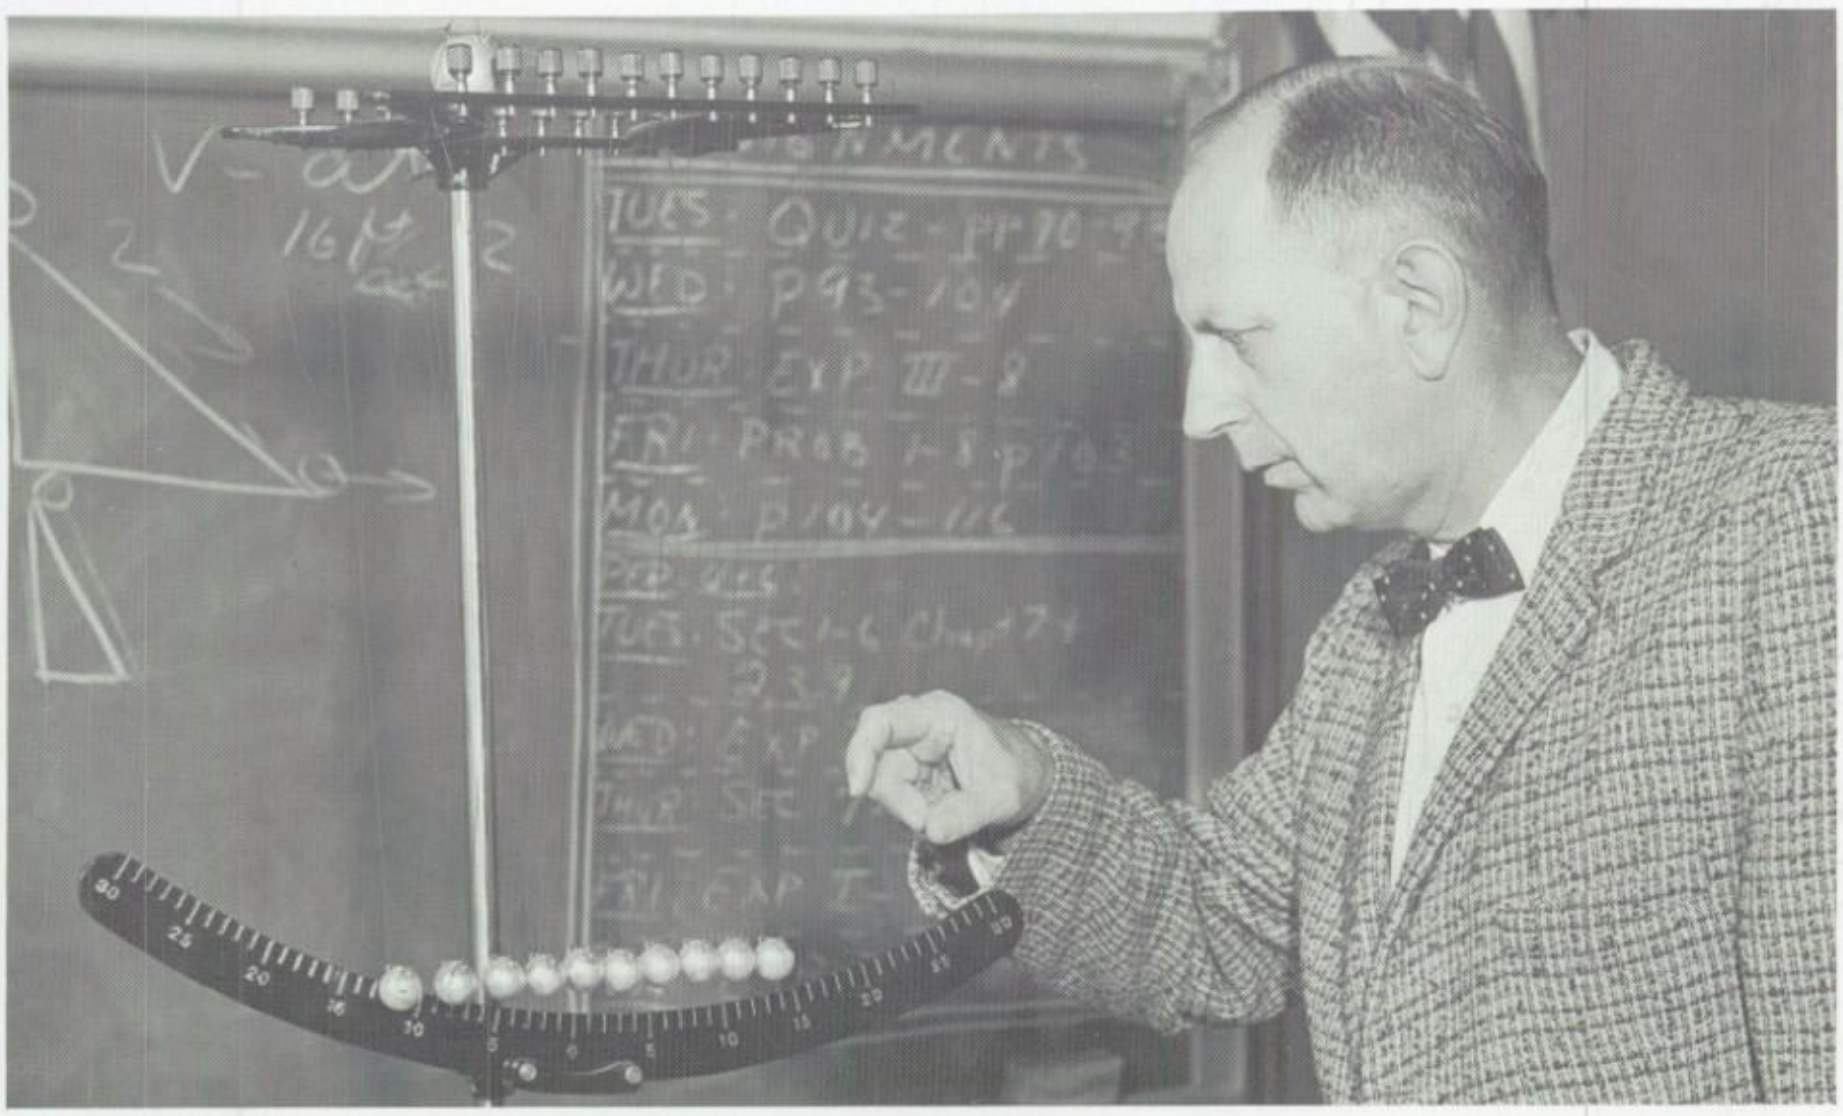
Student Delving Into His Area of Study

Dissection of worms, crayfish and frogs were a common occurrence in biology classrooms while learning the structures of organisms. Physiology offered a fascinating study of the human body concerning its functions and processes.

Physics students found both a challenge and knowledge in studying and applying the principles of gravity, sound and light, while future chemists were absorbed in formulas and experiments.

"Open wide!" says health education teacher Jerry Trimble as he and physiology instructor John Reta examine one of their long lost friends.

Physics instructor Gunnar Overgaard performs an experiment demonstrating the principles of momentum. Class demonstrations proved to be helpful to students, showing visually what they had learned in print.



Protractors, Proofs and Parallelograms

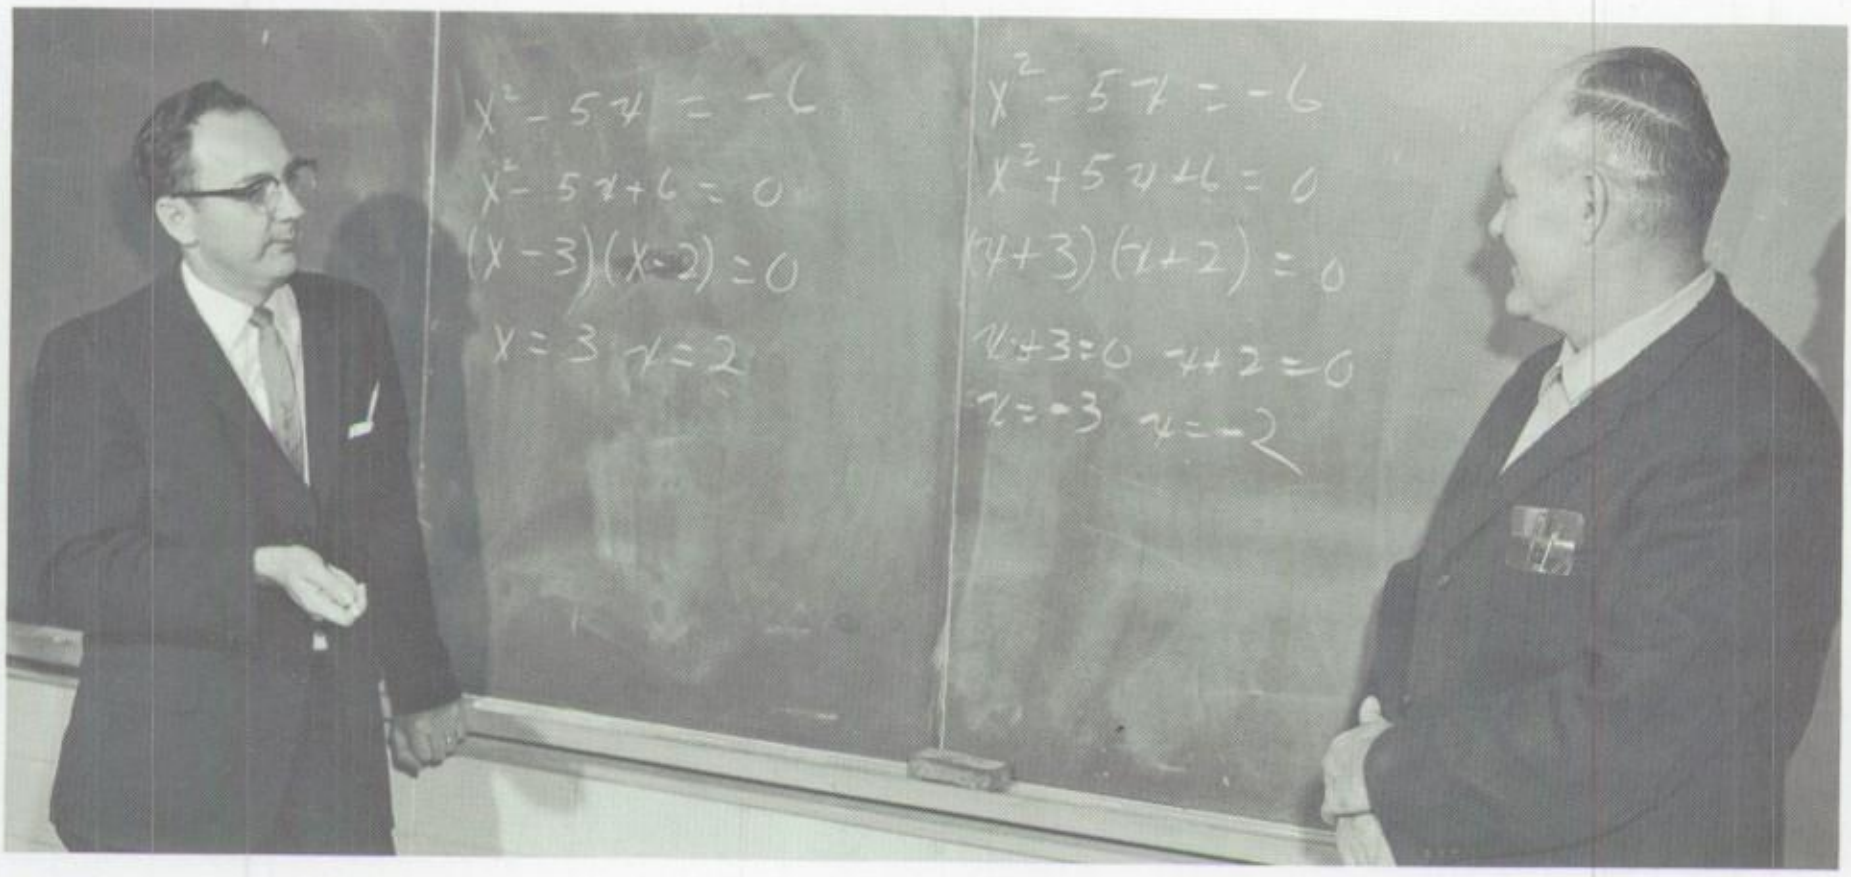
"The cosine of an angle is equal to the sine of its complement." Courses in math found pupils learning a whole new vocabulary while, at the same time, mastering slide rules and compasses.

While patience was the password to understanding complex principles, each class required application and effort as students attempted to keep up with their daily assignments.

Ann Hoffman finds Algebra to involve not only an analytic mind, but a lot of paper as she stays after class to tackle a troublesome problem.

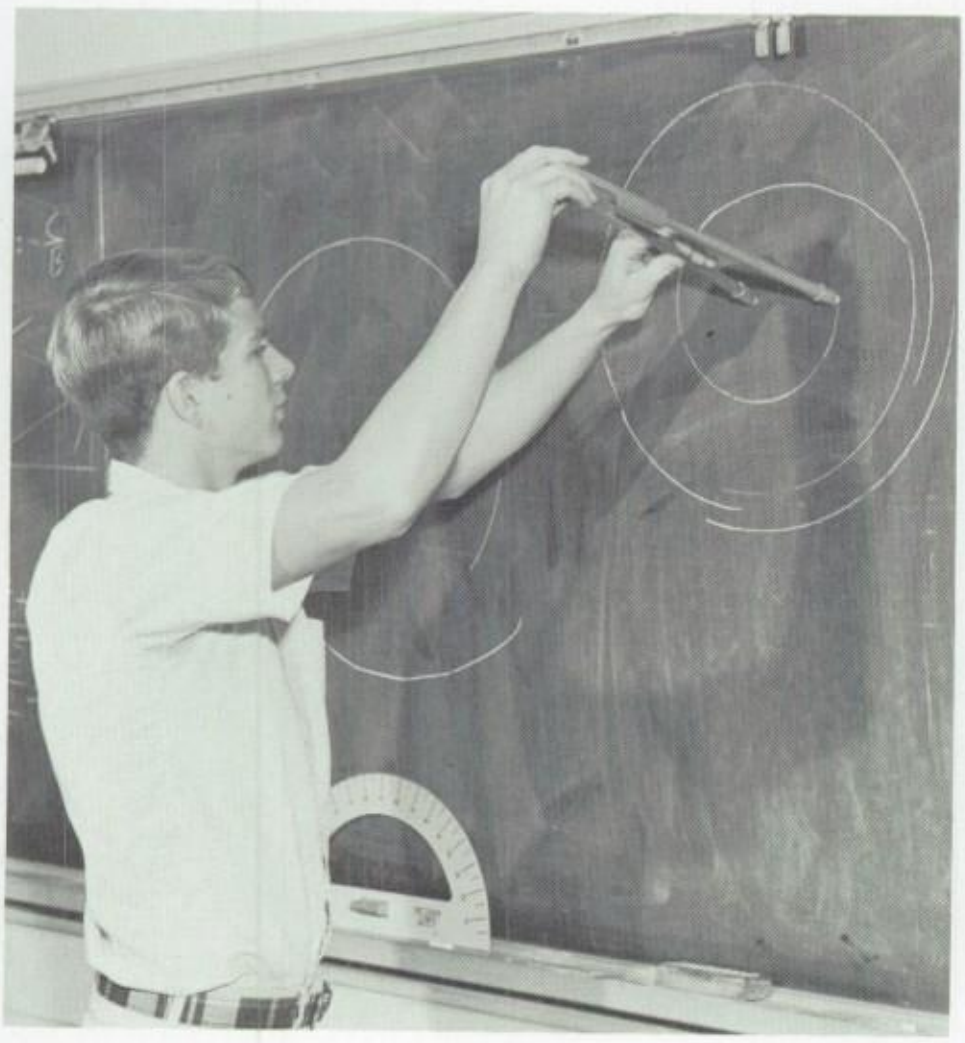
"O.K., let's get down to business!" Harold Blount decides to hold a class of his own after school as other geometry teachers Roger Hadley, Sheryl Snyder and Fred Smith join in on the fun.

Become a Way of Life To Math Students



Positive or negative? Algebra teachers Harold Baker and Arthur Gordon try to discover where the fault lies.

"I never did like circles!" sighs Stan Ewing, attempting to illustrate a geometry assignment.



An overhead projector is found to be of great use to George Eisele in instructing trigonometry and analytic geometry.

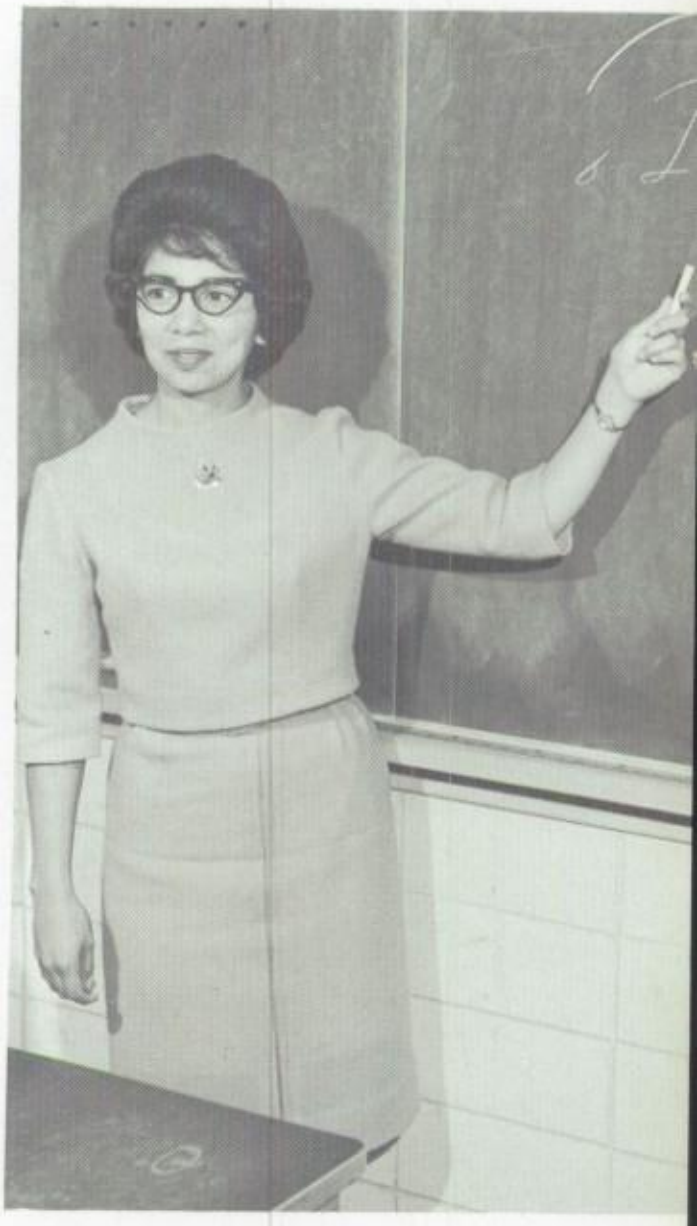
Students discover both concentration and skill are two elements which must be included in a typing course.

Business Classes Strive to Improve Skills

Mary Mussen dutifully figures out one of her bookkeeping assignments with the aid of a reliable class adding machine.

Typing teachers, Marie Galloway and Robert Glenn, match their skills in using the IBM typewriters.

"You bet!" exclaims Jane Bailey as she and Terry Wickenhauser try to decipher one of their shorthand assignments.

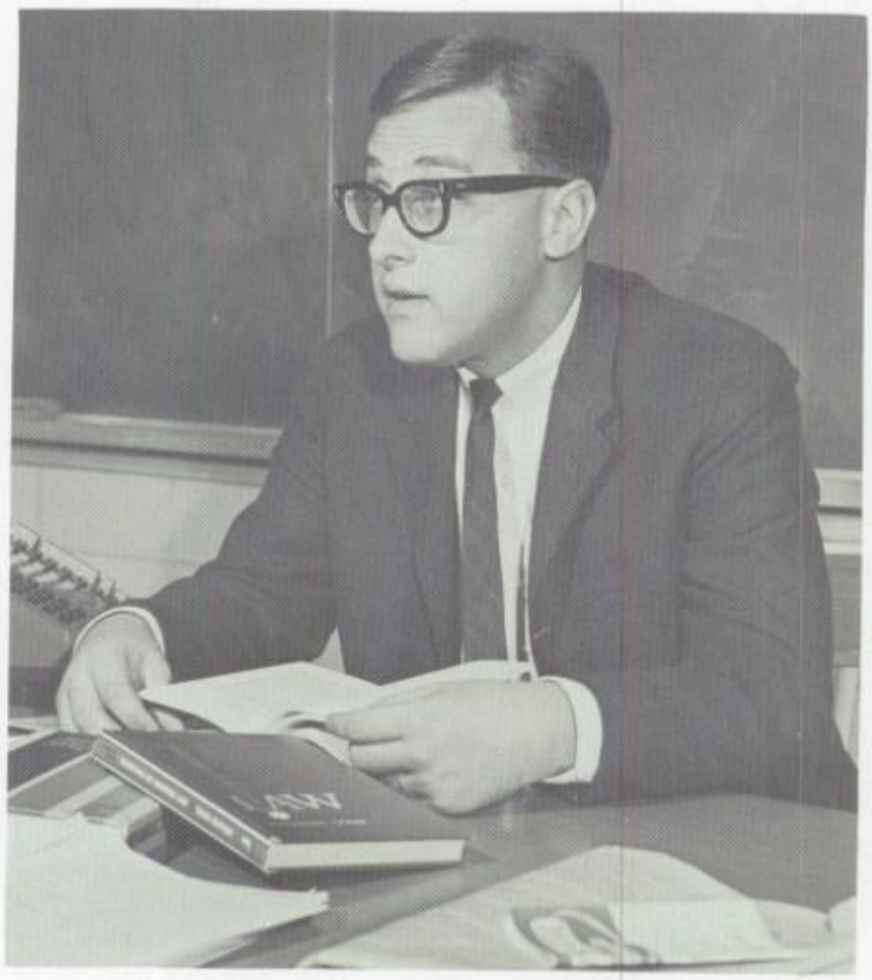


Rose Biedeck demonstrates a shorthand assignment to one of her many classes.

And Add Knowledge

Students in advanced typing classes increased speed and those in beginning courses mastered basic skills. Sounds took the place of words for those learning shorthand. Terms like net loss, liabilities and proprietorship added to the vocabulary of bookkeeping classes. The more technical phases of business were explored by business law students.

Each course offered its aspect of business or developed a certain skill. Modern equipment and methods aided in making these skills a reality.



Business law instructor, Robert Neilsen, discovers that even a teacher may have homework.

Co-ordination and Form Important in P.E.

While beginning swimmers practiced basic strokes, the advanced swimmers accomplished grace and style. Water safety was taught and mastered in Red Cross life saving courses.

Skill and agility were the goals of the physical education classes. While intramurals helped build sportsmanship, participating in gymnastics and competitive sports boosted physical fitness.

Art Hillman, P. E. teacher, finds his job takes muscle as well as careful planning.

A common sight. P.E. instructor Kathy Jurgens' office is usually filled with talkative but often helpful girls.

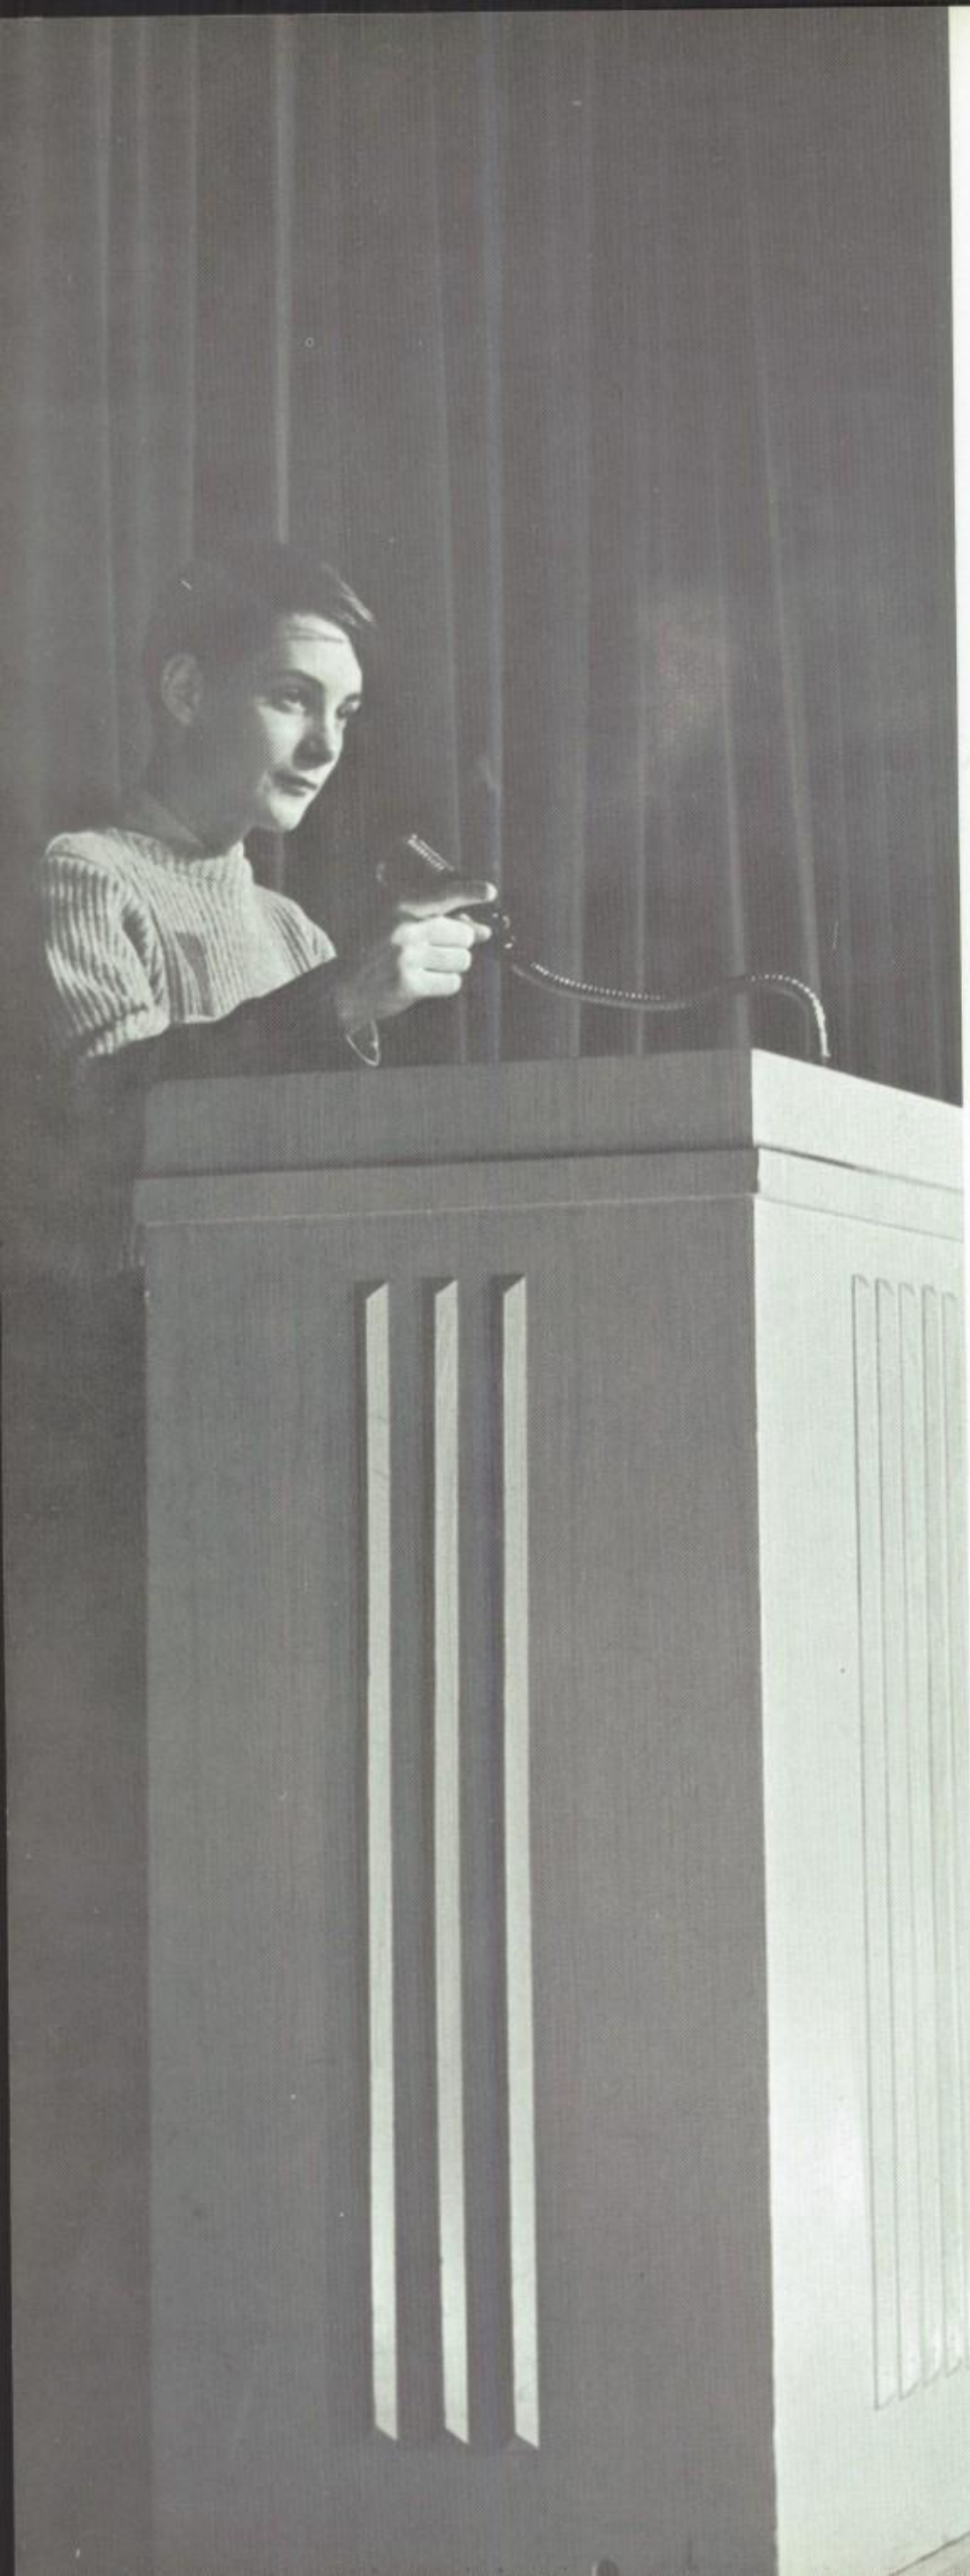
Driver trainers Gail Baum, Roy Churchill, and John Waldron find that even the instruction car breaks down.

Simulators Aid in Training Safe Drivers

Identifying road signs, obeying safety rules, practicing parallel parking, and knowing how to change a tire played an important part in training students to be alert and careful drivers.

Supplementing the classroom instruction was the use of stimulators and movies. Students also spent hours as an observer in a car and in actual driving practice for the drivers license test.

Tim Mercer discovers that racing a simulator covers the safety aspect, but not much distance.



STUDENT LIFE

Barie Schultz, Al Soshnik and Marti Christensen polish copy and put it into final form as section editors Nancy Tinstman, John Cunningham and Cindy Johnson evaluate their work.

1966 SHIELD Staff Seeks to Identify Role

With copy and captions to write, pictures to take and ever-present deadlines to meet, the 1966 SHIELD staff plunged eagerly into the job of publishing a yearbook. Imagination came in handy when planning layouts and pictures, and a background in journalism proved invaluable in writing copy.

Staff members experienced both fun and frustration as they worked together toward their goal — a goal that was realized in June with the publication of the 1966 SHIELD.

Hard-working business staff members Kris Swanson, Richard Krantz and Steve Moses (with overhead assistance from Houstan Doan) start their SHIELD sales campaign in an unusual manner.

Sitare B. Karagozoglu, Advisor Don Ferguson, Anne Olson, Melodee McPherson and Tom Kos find that a united effort brings results.

Avid Clarion Staff

"What a great paper!" exclaims editor Dave Buntain as he reads his first issue of the Clarion.

Covering beats, planning the paper, writing stories and headlines, reading copy and proof, and laying out pages were all in a two weeks' work for members of the Clarion Staff as they kept up with the latest in school news.

Writing many controversial editorials, Editor Dave Buntain also kept his enthusiastic staff busy maintaining high journalistic standards.

Appearing on the editorial page this year was a new feature, "Perspective." Written especially for the Clarion by a well-known figure, this article stimulated the thoughts of many.

Joined by the man who prints their paper, Clarion staff members, Bob Woest, Nancy Hardin, Ed Icenogle, Lynda Inman, Mr. Ferguson, advisor; Susie Westervelt and Susan Jenkins, read a paper hot off the press.

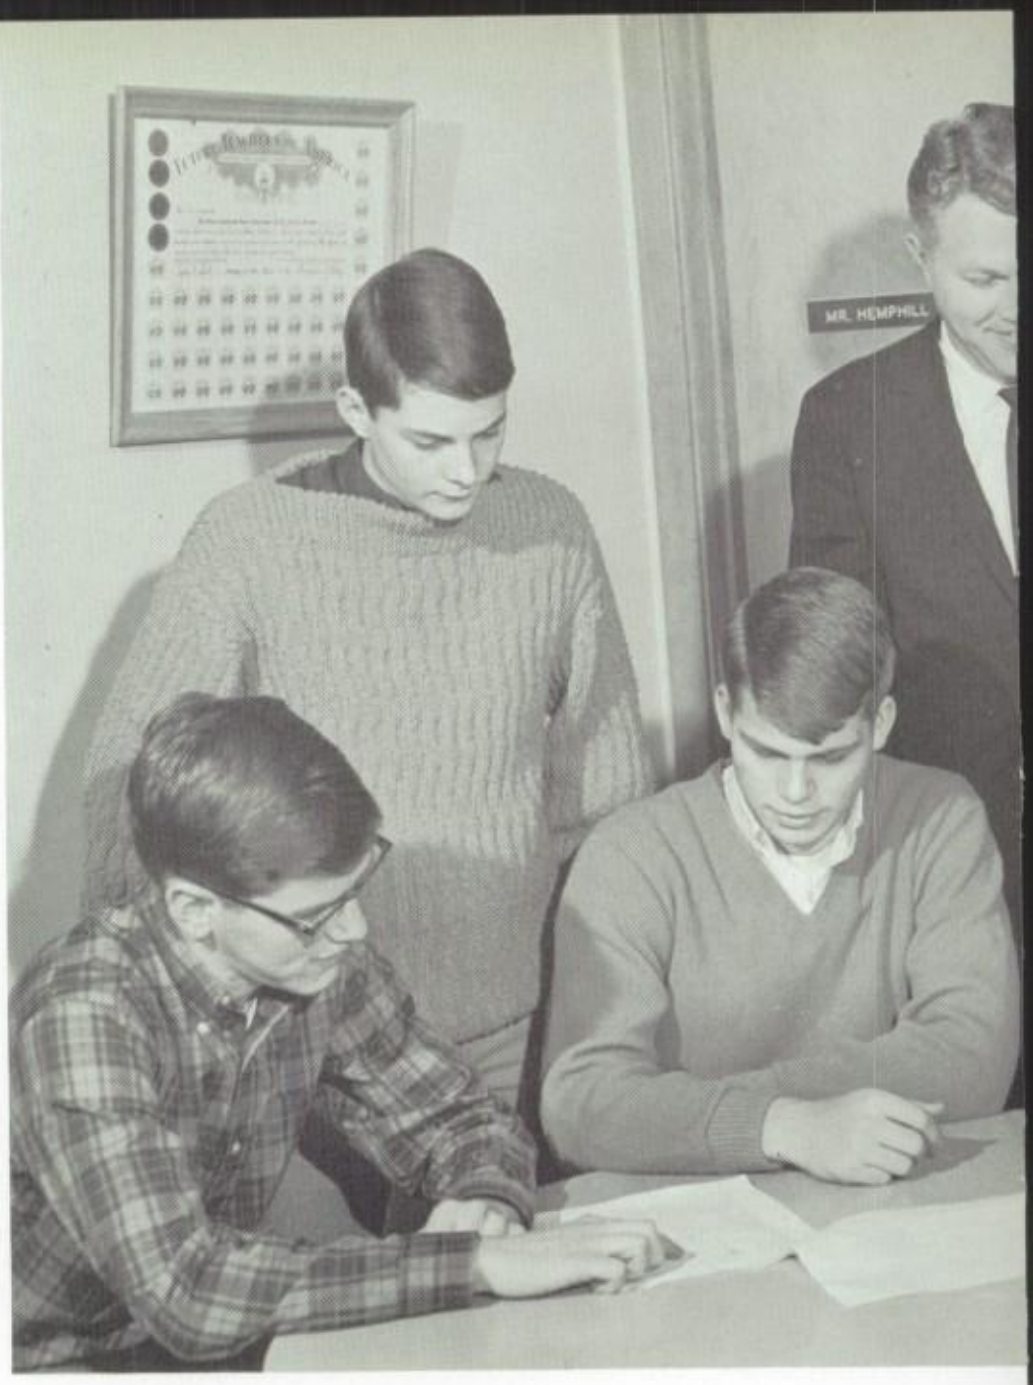
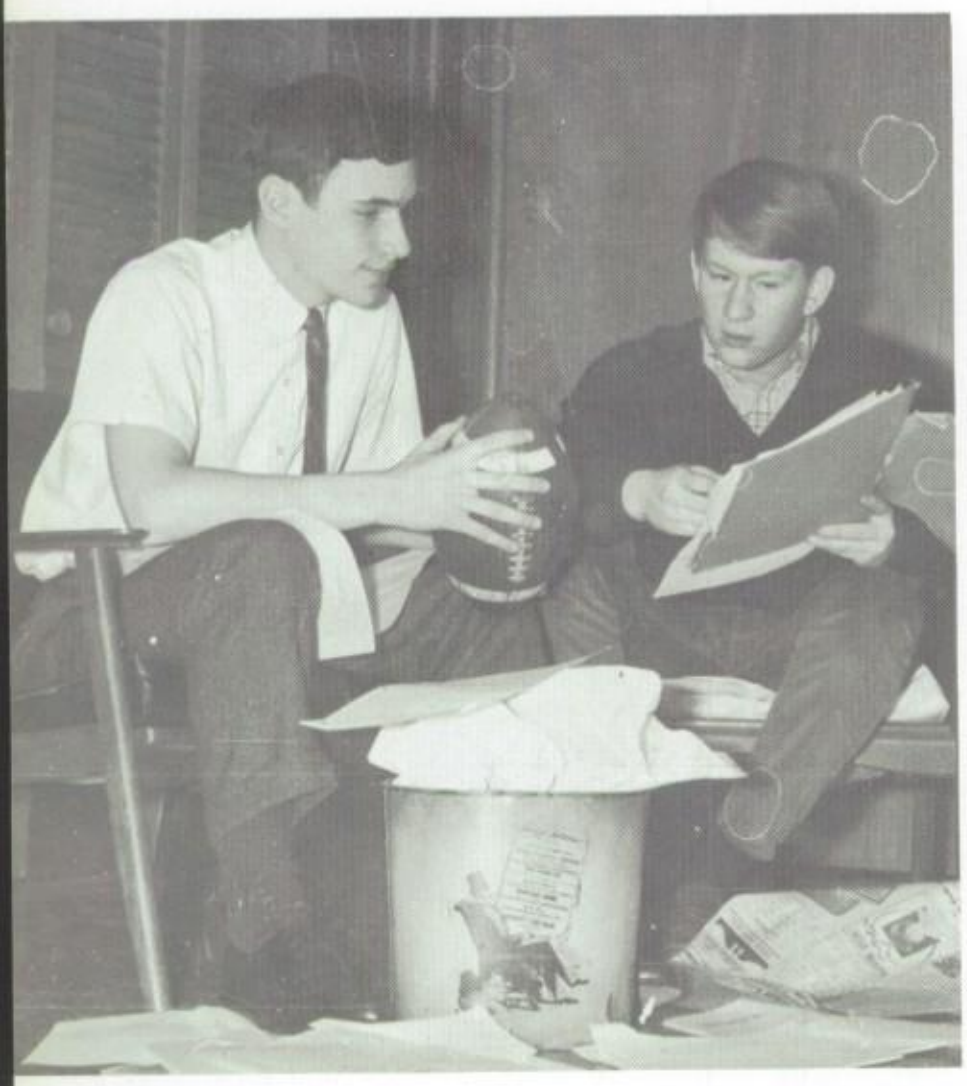
Nancy Hardin takes the initial crack at the strength tester being constructed by Julie Swanson, John Becker, Cindy Kutzer and Bill Timmerman for the Key Club Carnival.





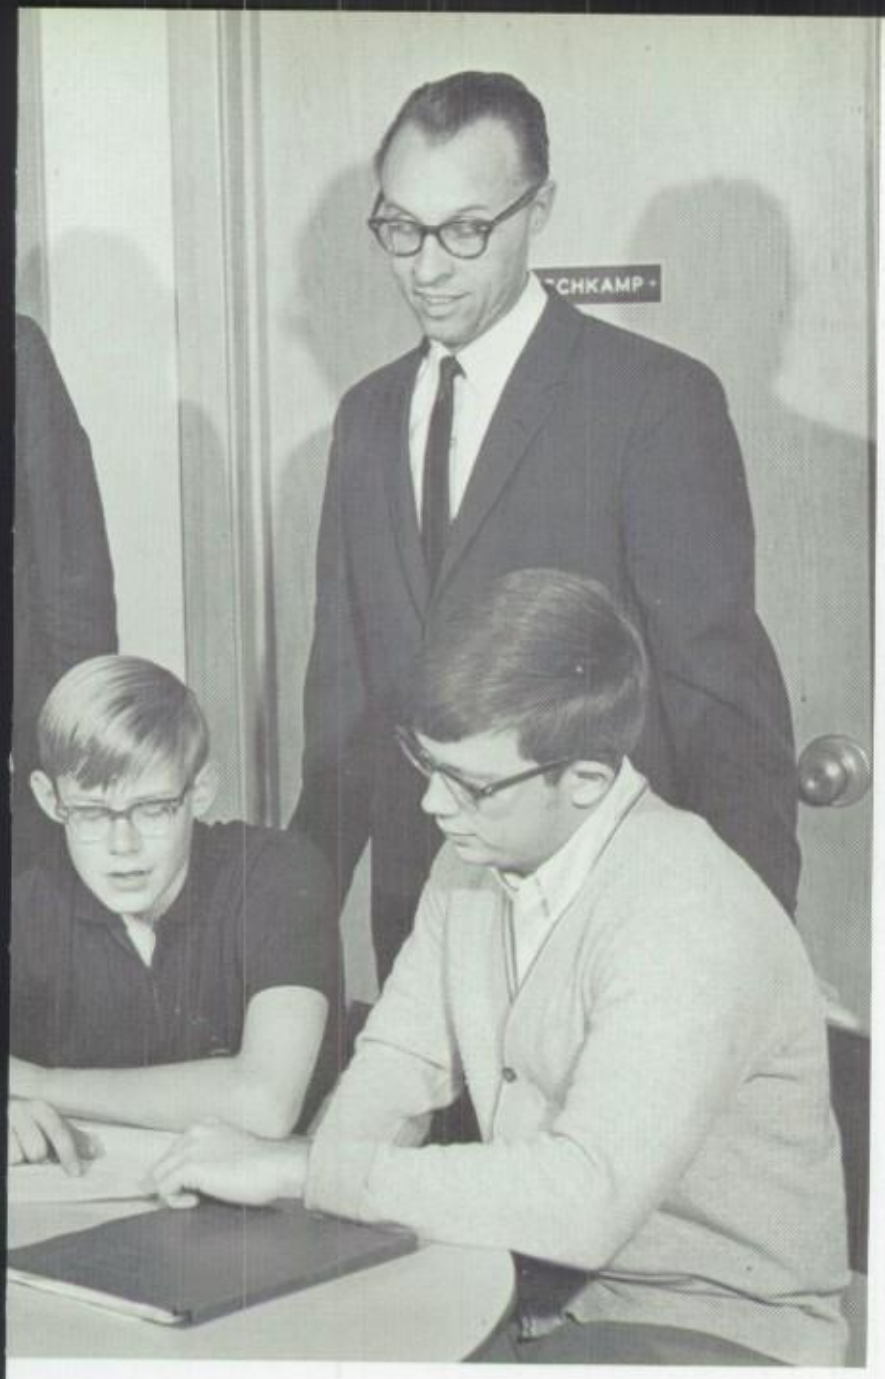
"That football will become an important part in your presidential campaign speech," explains Dick Elder. Bob Wolfe listens intently realizing his speech must have the right approach if he is to influence delegates and be elected State Student Council President.

'66 Council Launches

Finding itself on a two-day-a-week class schedule, the Student Council had more time to devote to Southeast. Council members returned fresh from a summer of conventions ready to work with their seven newly elected sophomore contemporaries.

Taking over National Honor Society duties, the Council pondered the problem of selecting NHS members.

In the fall eighteen council members represented Southeast at the state convention where Junior Bob Wolfe was elected State Council President.



Working late isn't unusual for Dave Buntain, Dave Landis, Terry Grasmick, Charles Hemphill, Ed Wekesser, Don Darnell, and Dave Van Horn when studying the new NHS plan.

"We'll be stacking cans all night!" states Ilkka Liede to Sitare B. Karagozoglu, Gwen Hlava, and Jack Brickson as they pile the seven hundred cans of food received at the all-school food drive dance.

New Schedule

Husker co-captain, Mike Kennedy narrated a film of Nebraska football highlights for Southeast and Omaha Westside council officers Mary Beth Boosalis, Rusty Welch, Phil Blum, Ginny Hanson, Pennie Anderson, Kris Swanson, John Icenogle and Rick Anderson.

When Christmas rolls around, Council members Sarah Olson, Dave Moessner, Laurel Gerlach, Mary Eno, and Scott Wright display Christmas spirit by decorating a tree for the hall.

Camera and Radio Clubs Interest Students

Developing a closed circuit television microscope was a major project of the Amateur Radio Club. Radio Club members also hosted speakers, took field trips, had exchanges with other schools, and still found time to operate their own amateur station, KAOGDI.

By taking various field trips members of Camera Club broadened their knowledge of photography and intensified their interest in it. Trips were taken to the Air National Guard to survey the production of aerial photography and to the Lincoln Journal-Star and University of Nebraska to view photo facilities.

Club Stimulates Scientific Experimentation

In order to give its members experience in the many different fields of science, Southeast's Science Club encouraged both group and individual research and experimentation.

Field trips and speakers gave members good background for this research, and the Nebraska Science Fair, held in Lincoln, provided them with the opportunity to exhibit their projects.

As a result of these activities, club members discovered that science can be fun as well as informative.

Thespians Tapped;

Read, memorize, practice and perfect are the steps that lead to a successful dramatic production. This goal was attained in the production of the fall play, "The Diary of Anne Frank," the story of a young Jewish girl and her family during their years in hiding during World War II.

By taking part in the presentation of plays, Thalian members earned points towards membership in Thespians, honorary dramatic organization.

Katha Levine captures the character of Anne Frank in order to protray her feelings to the audience.

Club Members Explore Field of Education

Anticipating careers in teaching, Future Teachers of America, sponsored by Mrs. Mary Commers and Mr. Don Darnell, participated in many activities.

In addition to tours and speakers, club members assisted during several Southeast open houses and sponsored a tea for faculty members. During American Education Week, they presented an apple to each teacher.

Future Teachers officers Darlene Dirks, Cindy Null, Kathy Berkheim and Ronda Ryan receive help from club sponsor Don Darnell in planning their careers.

Quinquatrus Stimulates Artistic Aptitude

Students interested in art found in Quinquatrus an excellent opportunity to increase both their artistic interest and proficiency. Embracing many different aspects of art, the organization sponsored a variety of activities during the year including guest lecturers, sketching trips and workshops. Members were also given the opportunity to apply their talent, as the club painted scenery for the operetta.

Combining their artistic talents to produce an interesting bit of sculpture are Betty Leavitt, Margaret Babb and Sue Smith.

Yells, Signs, and Rallies Busy Knightettes as

"Your pep, your pep, you've got it, now keep it, don't lose it, you need it!" could be the theme of the largest pep club in the history of Southeast.

Sparked with enthusiasm, the Knightettes supported all sports during the year and fostered school spirit by yelling, making signs, and attending games, meets, and pep rallies. Bus trips were taken to Fremont and the state swim meet at Omaha Westside.

The pep club also held the annual Homecoming Dance, All Sports Banquet, and Pep Club Spring Breakfast.

Knightettes spend many hours creating signs to decorate team members' lockers on the days of their games.

Initiating cheers, pom-pom routines, and songs into Southeast tradition, the varsity cheerleaders were ever active in the creation of school spirit.

To gather students and help build spirit the cheerleaders organized in and out of school rallies, pep skits, parking lot rallies and a bonfire.

To help create victory spirit for the reserve basketball games five reserve cheerleaders were tapped in November.

Active Lettermen Promote Southeast Spirit

Membership in the S Club, backbone of all sports at LSE, was a source of pride for many athletes.

The election of Homecoming and All-Sports queens was one of the lettermen's main responsibilities. Other duties included initiating new members, roping off the basketball court at the halftime of games and promoting school spirit as well as good sportsmanship.

An S Club Scholarship, financed by program sales and dues, was awarded to the outstanding senior athlete.

S Club officers Tom Tidball, Dick Hawley, Bill Jennings, and John Cunningham exhibit pride in Southeast's previous athletic achievements.

The highlight of the year for the Creative Writing Club came in May with the publication of the 1966 RUNES, Southeast's literary magazine. Working on the RUNES staff gave Writing Club members an opportunity to put their literary interest to use.

Besides producing the RUNES, Writing Club members sponsored talks by Karl Shapiro, Pulitzer Prize winner, Neal Copple, a journalism professor at the University of Nebraska, and Mrs. Mary Commers, teacher at Southeast, who discussed Japanese Haiku.

Creative Writing Club officers, Nancy Hardin, Barbara Hamilton, and Linda Jeffrey, look over original works submitted for publication in the RUNES.

Honor Society Tapped under New Policy

National Honor Society members were chosen under a new plan developed by a special committee of the Student Council. The new arrangement provides for the selection of membership under four criteria: scholarship, leadership, service and character.

Four Southeast seniors qualified as semi-finalists in the NHS scholarship program. They were selected on the basis of their PSAT scores.

National Honor Society Scholarship winners, Robert Dalrymple, Dave Buntain, Richard Krantz, and Susan Smith, stock up on the books they are planning to read before entering college next fall.

NFL Members Debate Controversial Issue

Debate coach, Tom Keene, advises varsity debators Fred Register, Jerry Webman, Ken Wald and Dave Landis as they formulate and organize arguments for an upcoming tournament.

Southeast debators spent many hours gathering information relative to the 1965-66 National Forensic League topic, "Resolved: That the Federal Government should adopt a program of compulsory arbitration of labor-management disputes in basic industries."

Participation in various tournaments afforded debators an opportunity to gain experience outside the classroom and also to earn points necessary for membership in Forensic League. The debate squad took part in tournaments in Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska.

Future Nurses Gain Valuable Experience

"Will I live?" Linda Green anxiously awaits the decision of future nurses Chris Grasmick, Judy Harvey and Linda Chittenden.

Future Nurses of America, an organization designed to give students insight into the many aspects of nursing, proved to be of valuable assistance to its members in planning their careers.

Sponsored by Mrs. Courtney, Southeast school nurse, and Mrs. Faling, the organization hosted speakers, toured hospitals and schools of nursing, and held money-making projects.

Club members also assisted Mrs. Courtney with the various health tests given to all students.

International Club Sponsors Bermuda Day;

In February International Club sponsored the annual Sadie Hawkins dance, which featured the jugband and the coronation of the king and queen. Bermuda Day, a money-making project for International Club was held in May.

Susan Jenkins, president of International Club and an American Field Service Returnee from Germany, showed her slides of Germany and spoke at one meeting. Many other interesting guest speakers provided the programs at other meetings.

King Rick Metz and Queen Vicki Mohr and their attendants, Linda Stolldorf, Bill Condon, Dan Higgins, and Terry Korinek, were revealed during halftime at the Sadie Hawkins dance.

Reorganization, Service--Key Club Goals

The Key Club motto, "Serve with integrity," provided a basis for the activities of Southeast's chapter of this international organization. Sponsored by Kiwanis, the club emphasized reorganization and an increase in school and community service.

In the area of community service, members participated in Salvation Army and Muscular Dystrophy fund drives, and sponsored an all-school food drive for needy families.

A major event was the Key Club Carnival, designed to raise money for AFS and other school clubs.

Key Club officers Terry Grasmick, Scott Wright, Tom Tidball, Dick Hawley, and Tiff Tyrrell, and sponsor Mr. Fran Dorais plaster the halls with colorful posters in hopes of a successful project.

Toys, Recordings Keep Red Cross Active

Membership doubled and participation improved as Red Cross increased its role among Southeast clubs.

Two major projects the Red Cross undertook this year were collecting and repairing toys for the Winnebago Indian children and recording books for the blind. The organization also assembled a scrapbook for a school in South Africa to continue communication with a former Southeast AFS student.

Recording a book for the blind are Red Cross officers, Nancy Hardin, Mark White, and Carole Shelley.

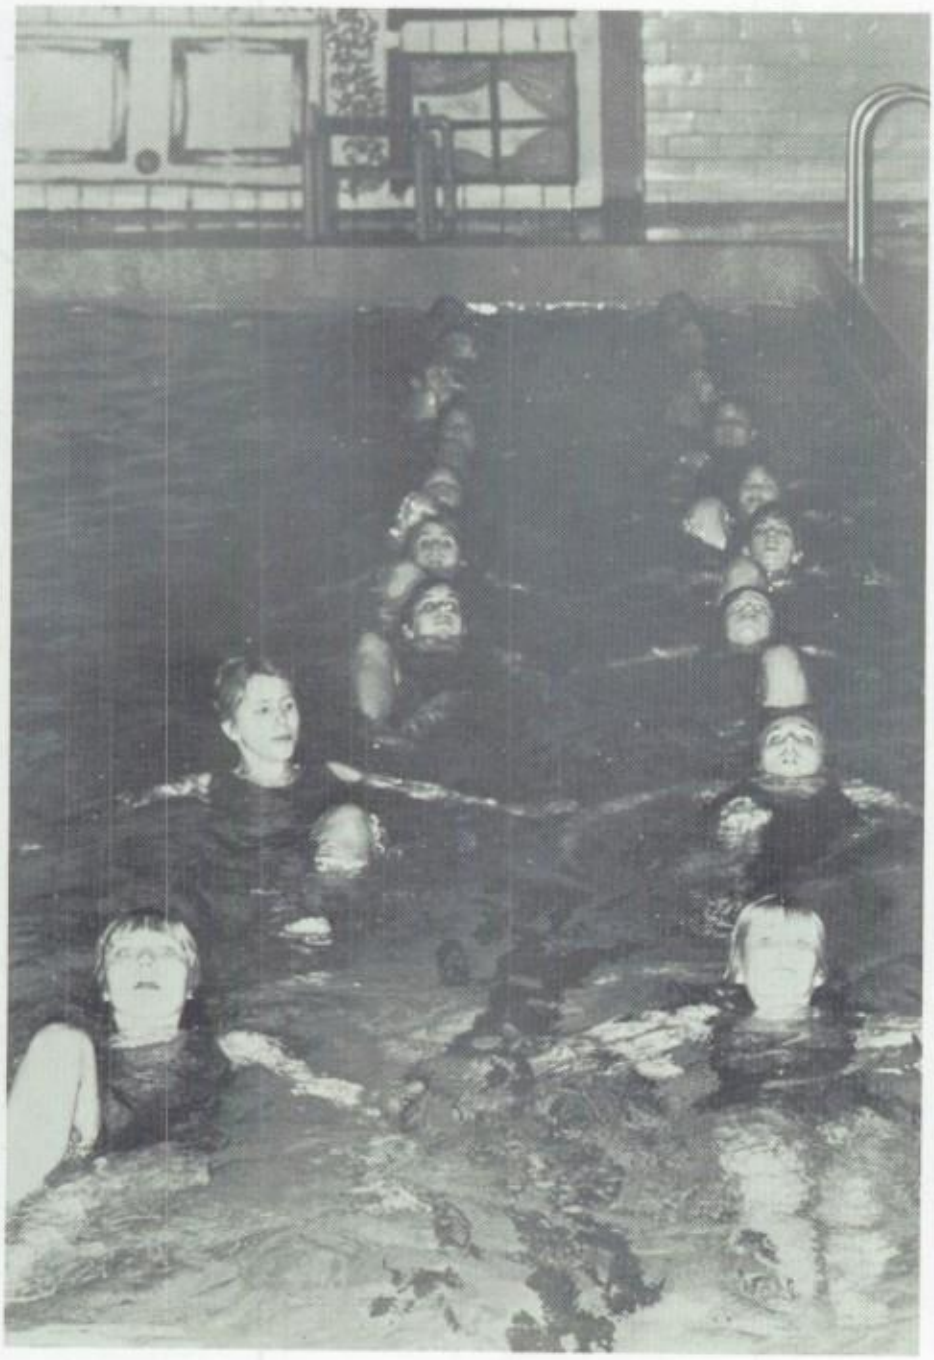
On Trip Through Dixie

Boo! The Villain (alias Sue Stiner) plunges into the water in hot pursuit of "The Hero."



With all members participating, "Last Stop New Orleans" ends the 1966 Synkra-Knights show.

Suzanne Simpson, Linda Varvel and Rosemary Reed effectively capture the tragic mood of junior Tracy Dalton's original play, "The Lonely Sea and the Sky."

"Fabulous Four Farces," Bob Wolfe, Scott Wright, Clarke Faulkner and Bill Wiley, perform popular songs with a folk music flair.

'A Thousand and One Knights' Provides

Seven graceful senior boys exhibit faultless style as they perform their interpretation of the ballet "Swan Lake."

Amusement for All

An abundance of Southeast talent was displayed at this year's Nite of Knights, "A Thousand and One Knights." Emcees Terry Grasmick and Ed Icenogle entertained audiences between acts and kept the annual variety show going smoothly.

Musical acts ranging from folksinging to songs from the 1920's provided a large part of the entertainment. Dramatic acts, skits and a ballet by senior boys added variety to the show.

The Best Act Award was presented to the "Jamaica Brass," an instrumental group doing their own interpretations of several popular songs.

Master of Ceremonies, Terry Gramick, encounters some trouble as he tries to assist his co-emcee Ed Icenogle, across the "street."

Many hours of rehearsal under Director Paul Austin proved well worthwhile as band and orchestra members participated in various activities during the year. The band added an energetic spark to football and basketball games, participated in assemblies and parades, and sponsored Southeast's annual variety show, Nite of Knights.

Orchestra members were kept busy entertaining at vespers and public concerts, and attending various music clinics. In addition, the orchestra provided the instrumental background for Southeast's annual operetta.

With unending enthusiasm, the pep band bolstered school spirit throughout the sports seasons.

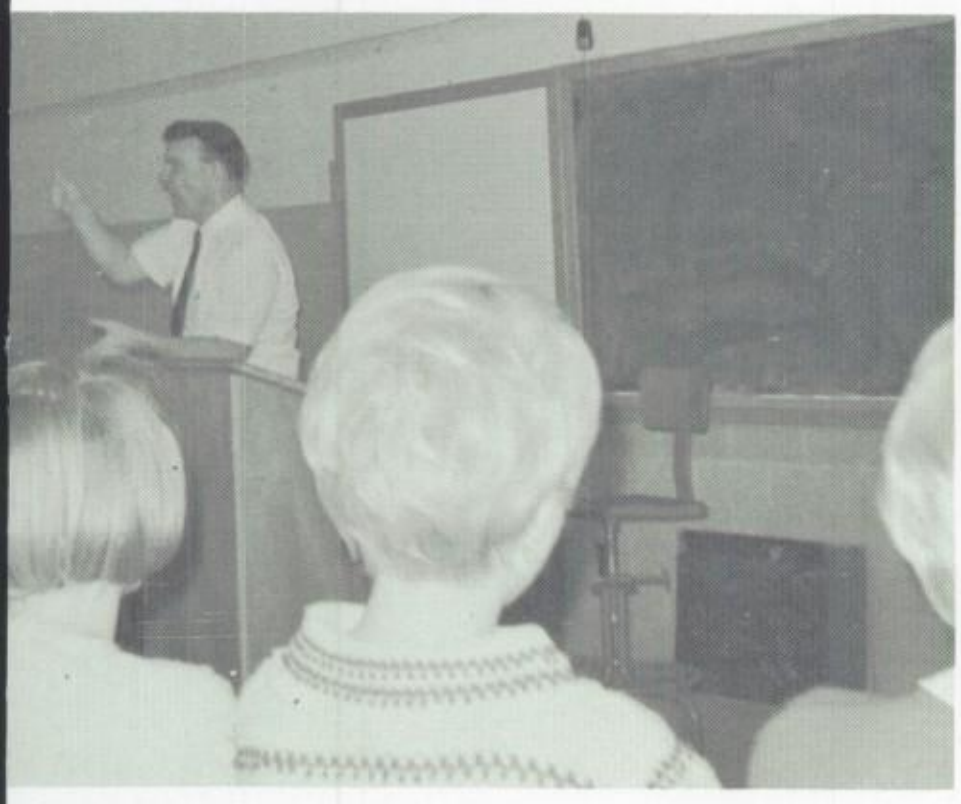
Musical Accomplishments to be Rewarding



Production of the operetta, "Annie Get Your Gun", was the highlight of the year for choir members. Building sets, gathering costumes, and learning lines and songs to perfection was hard work, but well worth the effort.

Always eager to perform, the choir, directed by Mr. John Cole, took part in assemblies, vesper concerts and the City-Wide Choral Festival.

"Oh ya cain't git a man with a gun!" With this in mind, sharpshooter Annie Oakley set out to win the attention of handsome Frank Butler, and the stage was set for the Advanced Choir's presentation of 'Annie Get Your Gun'.

Under the direction of John Cole and Max Bunker the various phases of the show were co-ordinated. A variety of musical selection with orchestral accompaniment, lively choreography and light-hearted comedy combined to make the musical a success.

"That's mighty purty shootin'," exclaims Foster Wilson (Bob Solheim), hotel proprietor, on examining Annie's victim. Annie's sisters Minnie (Pam Rash), Nellie (Susie Westervelt) and Jessie (Vicki Mohr), and brother, Little Jake (Henry Adams), stand by to lend moral support to her.

"I'm an Indian too, a Sioux," sings Annie as she tries to imitate the intricate footwork of the Indian dancers.

Outstate Wins, Tie, Highlight 3-5-1 Mark

Built around a nucleus of only six returning lettermen, Head Coach Bill Stephenson's Knights compiled a reputable 3-5-1 record. Three decisive wins over outstate foes and a scoreless tie with third-ranked North Platte highlighted a rugged schedule.

Six Southeast standouts were chosen to the All-City Honor Roll. These were Juniors Jon Roberts and Bill Guilford, and Seniors Harold Griffin, Mike O'Neal, Steve Mitchell, and Dick Spichal. Dick Spichal also was chosen to All-State Honorable Mention.

Though sporting a mediocre record, the Knights scored impressively in the statistics department. They edged their foes in the first down column 93-91, and in pass completion percentage 50% to 45%. They outdistanced their foes in the air 731-612 while losing the total offense by only eleven yards.

Junior Jon Roberts and Senior Tom Kos each ran for three touchdowns and Kos also threw five passes for tallies. The longest touchdown of the season was a 55-yard ramble with a pass interception by Junior Ronnie Nelson.

Football--A Synthesis of Fall Activities

Football players strive for personal satisfaction and school glorification. Cheerleaders and pep club quest for that intangible ingredient — spirit. Students show support by being faithful followers at pep rallies, games and bus migrations. The marching band, concession sellers, apprehensive coaching staffs, and the grandeur of Homecoming all helped to synthesize the many diverse facets of a football season.

Harriers Turn in Outstanding Performance

Rugged practice sessions and tough varsity meets netted Southeast a solidly balanced cross country team.

Winning the Trans-Nebraska meet and placing second in the city meet rewarded the squad for its 230 miles of running during practices.

Coach Roy Churchill praised state tournament qualifier Neal Bickley and also Jim Larson, Kent Augustin, and Dave Moessner for their efforts.

Reserves and Sophomores Key for Future

Though young and inexperienced, the Knight reserve basketball team posted a respectable 6-10 record. Built on the nucleus of only three juniors and eleven sophomores, the squad improved greatly as the year progressed. Earning praise from Coach Pueltz were Junior Don Hill and Sophomore Randy Smith.

A young and inexperienced sophomore basketball squad improved through the season and earned a 4 and 5 mark. Coach Wayne Bates noted a team weakness in freethow shooting but praised the consistently good play of Mark Oppegard, Tim Hedberg, and Steve Moser, who were all rewarded with positions on the reserve team.

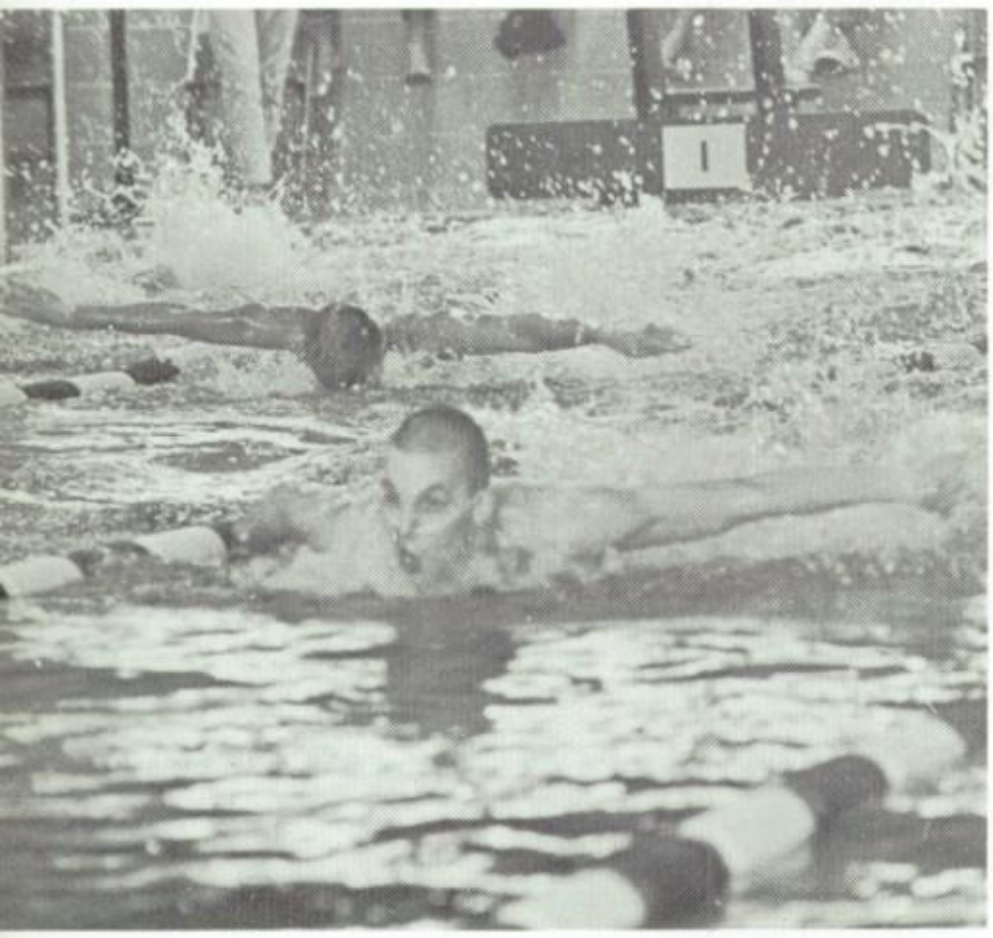
Four State Records Surpassed by Knights



Tom Tidball butterflies well ahead of the field.

The Southeast swim team successfully retained the state swimming title for the eighth consecutive season. The Knights share the crown with Westside, each tallying 78½ points. Four records fell to the team as Dave Schmidt, Stan Ewing and the freestyle relay team bettered existing state marks.

The strong squad easily won four dual meets, the city meet and the Trans-Nebraska meet during the year.

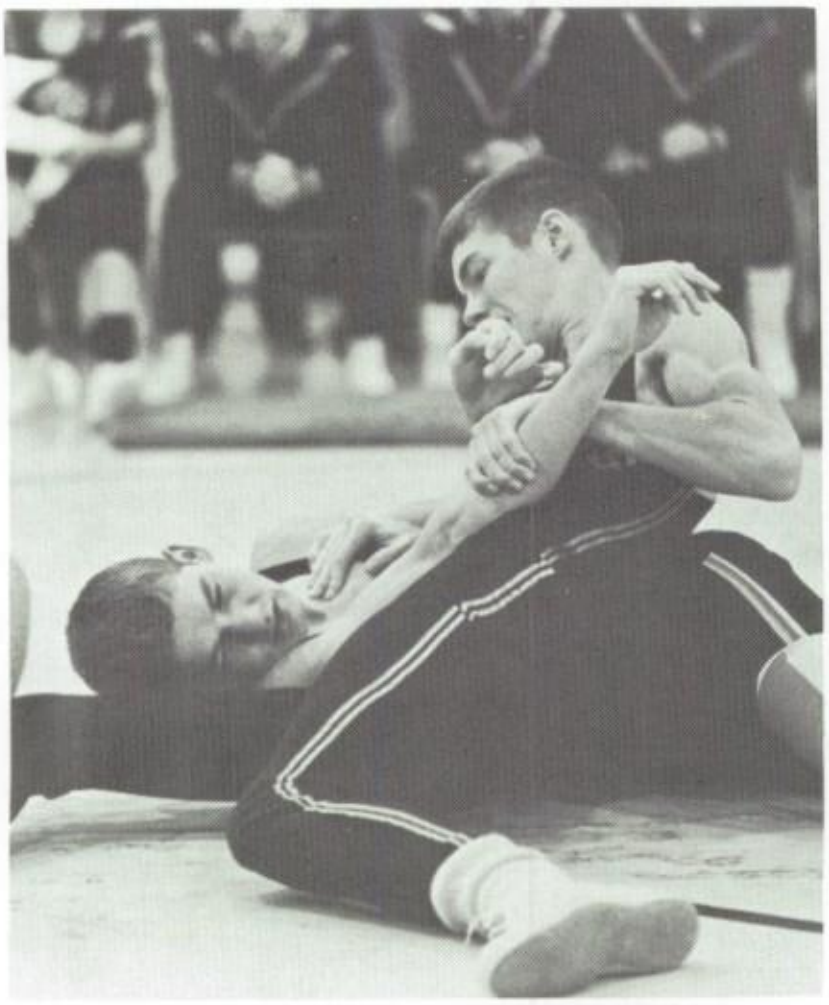
Sixth Place Finish Climaxes Fine Season



Junior Craig Schaefer strains to pin his man.

Sending five qualifiers to the State Meet, the Southeast wrestlers finished in a tie for sixth place. Senior Dick Splichal and Junior Mike Shelley won third place medals while Juniors Alan Spenser and Bob Pewthers took fourth place honors.

Bob Pewthers completed the season as the winningest wrestler with fifteen triumphs while Dick Splichal emerged with only three losses, the fewest number on the team.

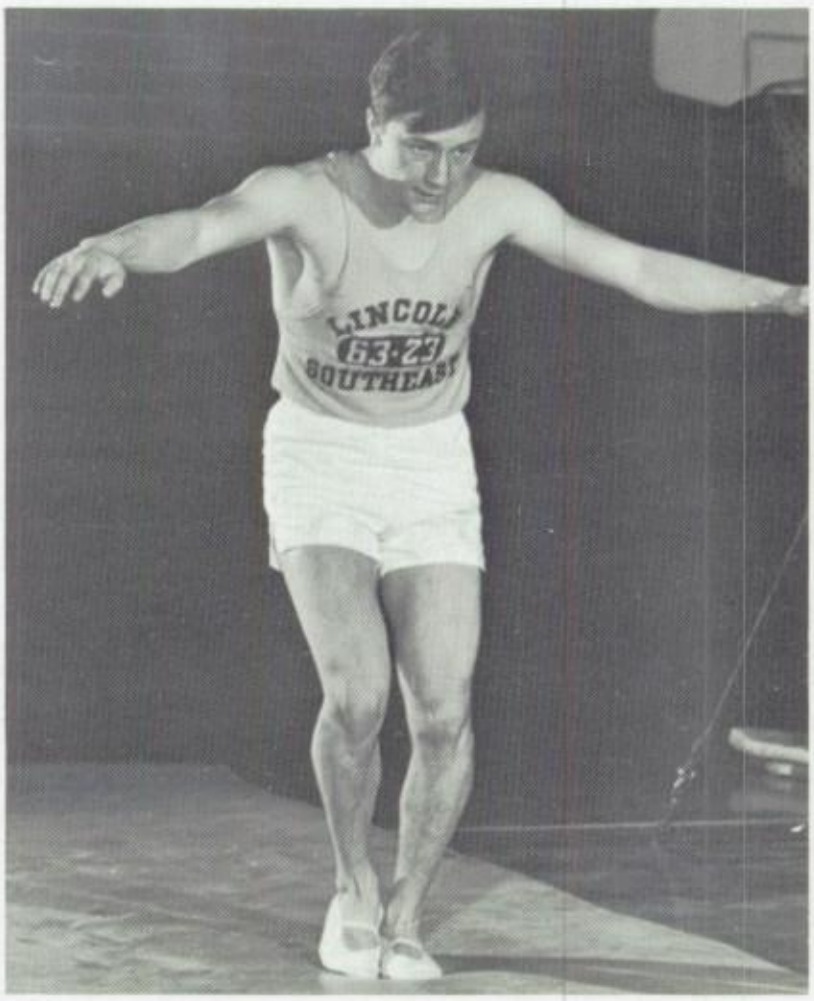
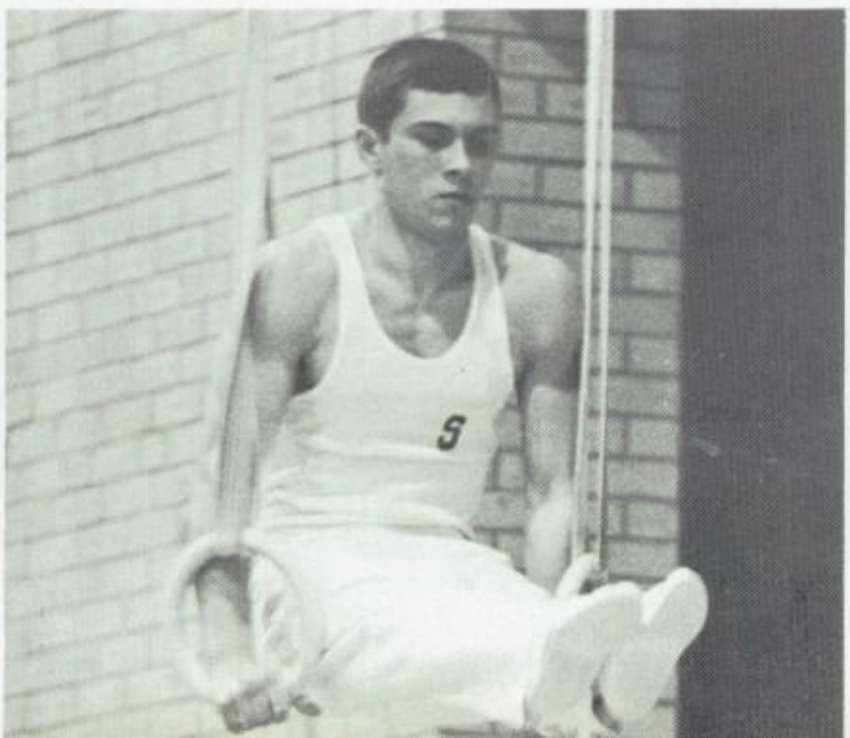
Knights Repeatedly Dominate Statistics

Despite being plagued by recurrent injuries all season, Southeast gymnasts nabbed seventh place in the state meet. Led by the talented senior duo of Jim Hutchinson and Dan Boren, the Knights captured five dual meets and finished third in the Trans-Nebraska meet. The gymnasts were confronted with stiff competition in the city.

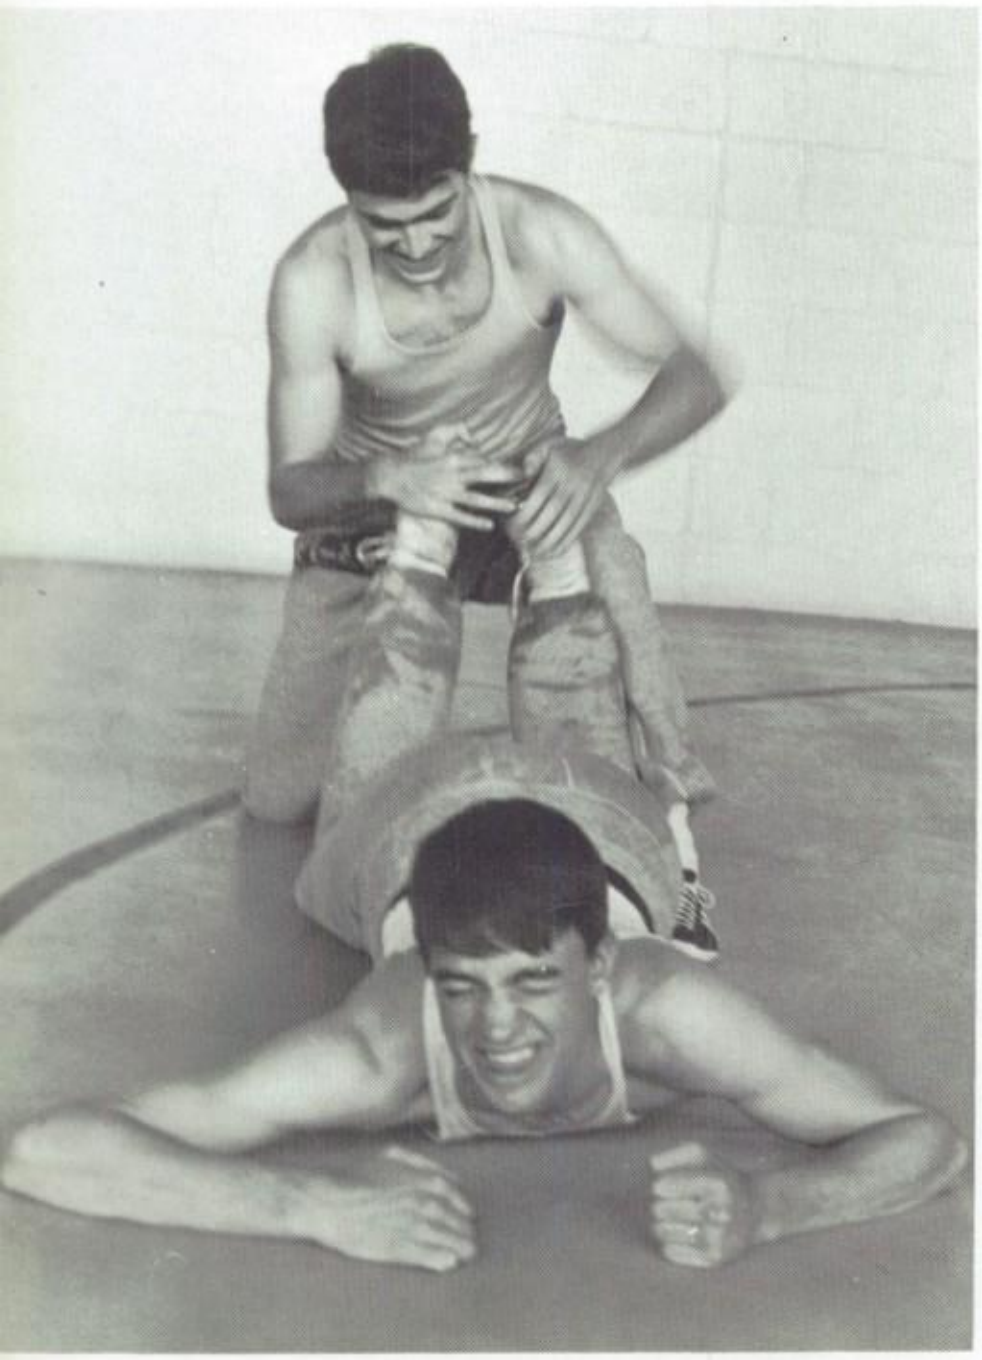


Senior Gymnast Jim Hutchinson combines acute coordination with long hours of practice.



Balancing high on the rings, Senior Gymnast Allen Hartley exhibits agility and form.

Thinclads Look to Challenging City Meet



Self-discipline is the call word for Knights thin-clads. Coach Churchill's runners looked forward to this season with much more enthusiasm than any other year. This year's senior returning lettermen Gregg Aksamit, Terry Culwell, Bill Jennings, Mark Hergenrader and Jim Reents led the team toward the city meet with juniors Bob Pewthers, Bill Leinberger and Sophomore Bruce Monson supporting the team effort.

Coach Churchill predicted a donnybrook in city meets, indicating the team will improve with competition.

Baseball Season

Catcher Les Zadina is ready to catch the ball but Jon Roberts connected solidly for a base hit.

Coach Charles Gordon's Varsity Baseball team showed promise during spring drills. A fine crop of seniors led by two-year letterman and captain Tom Tidball and many juniors and sophomores formed the Knights' hopes to improve on last season's 4-5 mark.

Players destined to see plenty of action included lettermen Tom Kos, Steve Mitchell, Jon Roberts, Jim Dietemeyer, and Dick Hawley, and underclassmen Pat Mooberry, Lee Grotelueschen, Steve Moser, and Trey Fink.

Third baseman Tom Tidball is ready to catch a hard-hit line drive in an after-school practice session.

Knight Netmen Aim at State Tennis Crown

With only two lettermen returning from last year's 6-1 squad, competition among the 41 boys out for tennis was keen for the top berths.

Coach Jerry Trimble looked to lettermen Jim Weaver and Bob Duffek for team leadership but noted that the addition to the team of foreign exchange student Illka Liede proved beneficial. Senior veterans Ron Sconyers and James Cole and Junior Jim Bergland provided fine back-up strength.

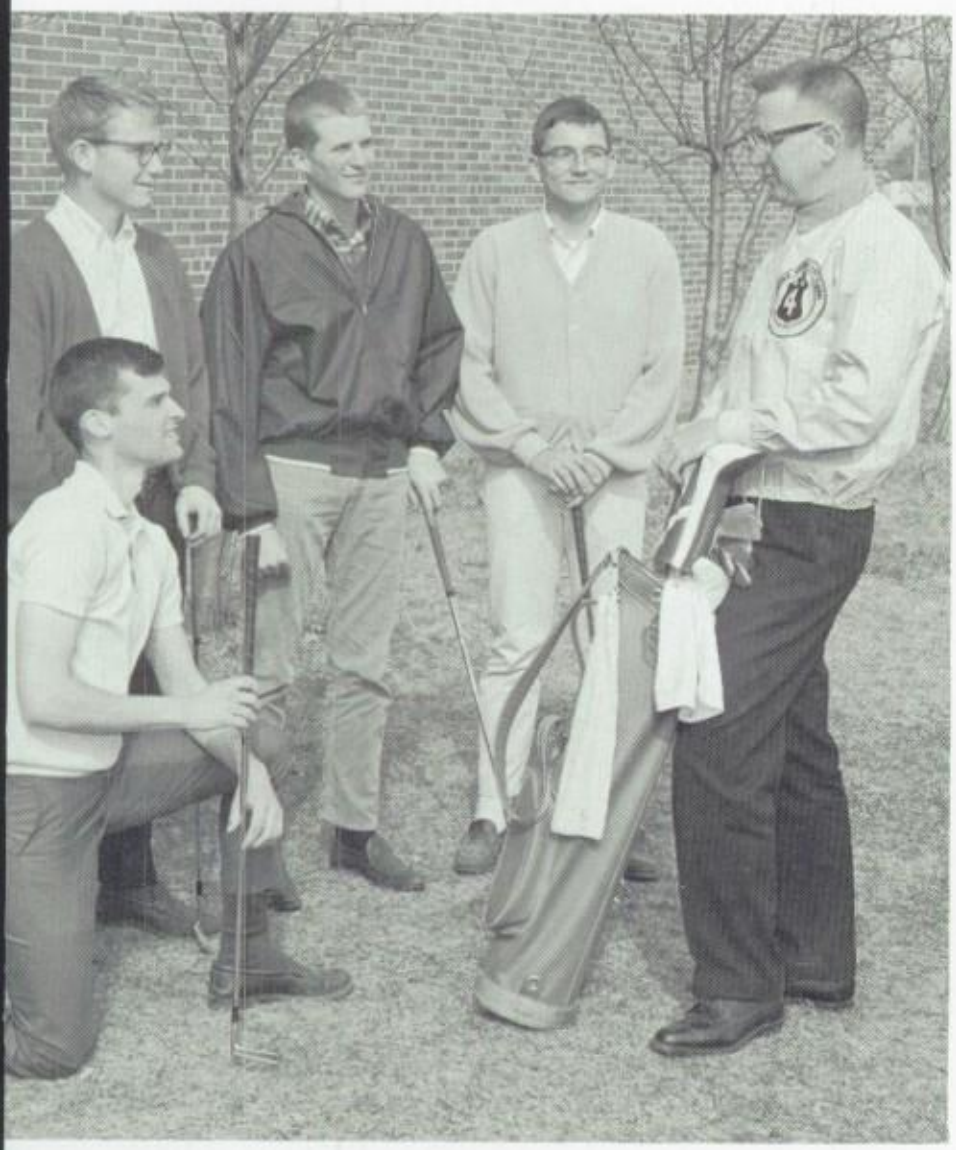
Competition Brings Outstanding Golf Team



With Juniors Bart Dennis and Scott Brunzell the only returning lettermen, Coach Paul Austin relied heavily on the depth provided by reserves.

Seniors Charley Davies, Bob Baldwin, Steve Nootz and Al Soshnik also vied for varsity status throughout the season. Competition was always keen as underclassmen played their best.

Intramurals Provide

The boys' intramurals program was greatly stepped up this year due to an increase in staff supervision. Intramural Director Al Karle noted that more teams were able to play because both Howard Mitchell and himself were able to work with the program full-time.

The IDC's, intramural football champs, easily defeated Lincoln High en route to the city extramural title.

The intramural sports included flag football, basketball, swimming, softball, track and volleyball.

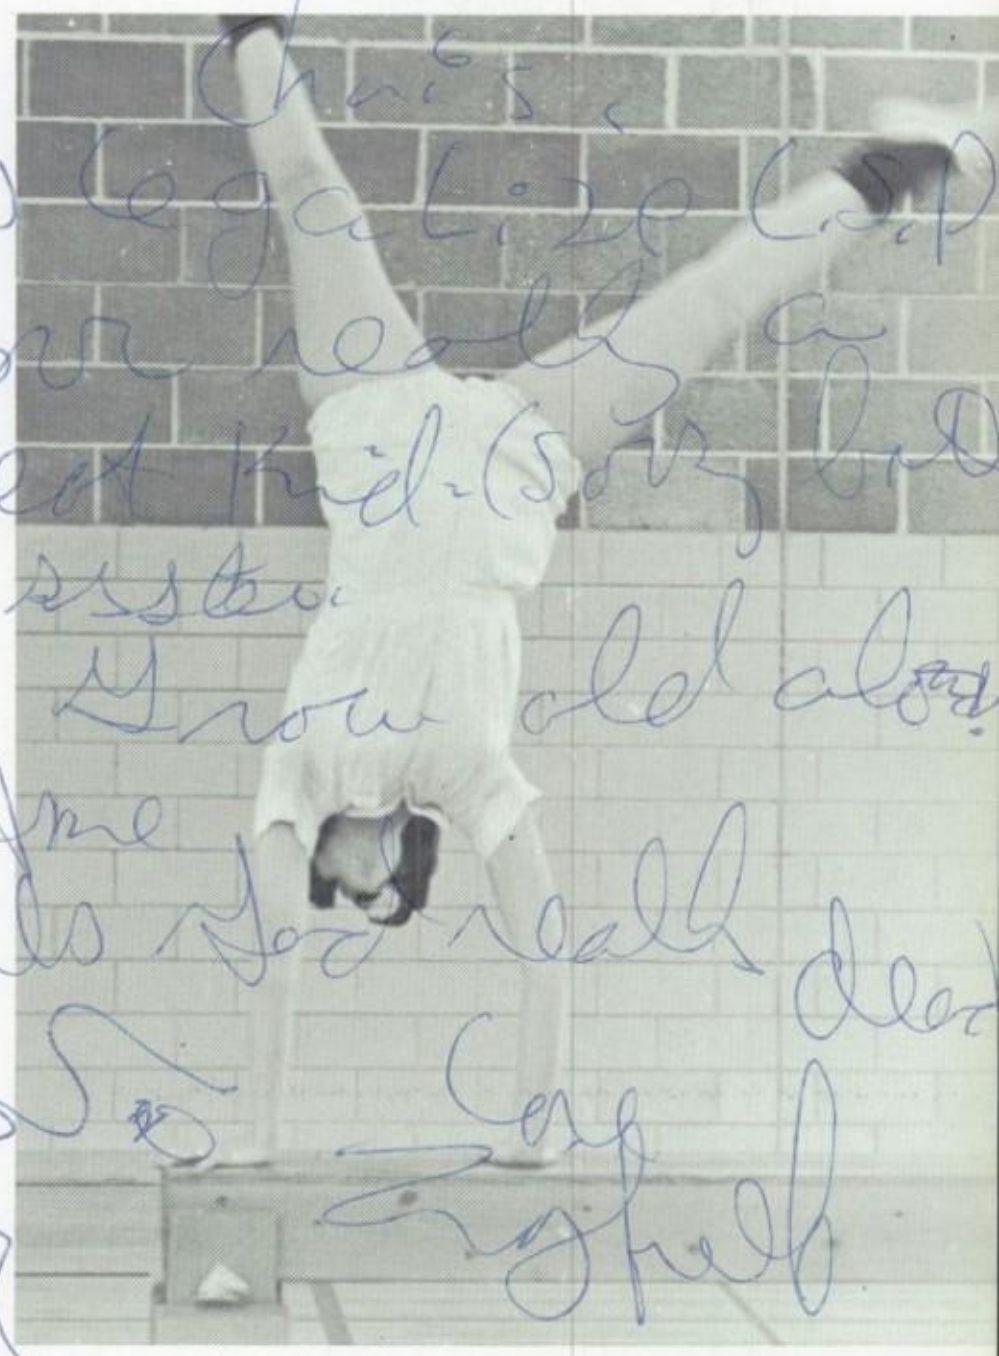
CITY FLAG FOOTBALL CHAMPS, THE I.D.C.'s — Kneeling: Dick Hawley, Terry Culwell. Standing: Rick Gilbert, Tom Tidball, Mike Fosdick, Steve Hyatt. Sitting: Tom Boren, Jim Hutchinson, Ron Bumgarner.

Competition was keen and spirit was tremendous in after-school intramural basketball contests.

Exercise and Enjoyment Via Participation

This year's intramurals program provided girls with an opportunity for exercise, excitement, and lots of fun. The program included basketball, volleyball, and a tennis tournament.

Intramural Director Kathy Jurgens noted that the addition of field hockey to the program in the fall should stimulate greater interest.



Sophomore Patty Kelly illustrates her gymnastic talents (or maybe she's trying to stop a nose bleed) as she performs on the balance beam.

Through the Shield 1966 we attempted to portray the individual's search for identity amidst the pressures of conformity . . . his loyalty to the group, yet his need to develop personal principles to give dimension to his life . . . Special thanks to Mr. Jack Riggle and John Kircher — Photographers Mr. Paul Bateman — Lincoln Yearbook Company . . . Sincere gratitude to our advisor Mr. Donald Ferguson for his criticism, his inspiration, and his opinions . . . Best of luck to the Shield 1967 staff for an impressive Shield 1967.

Editor, Shield 1966

Christopher,
How about going back to Chicago?
Take care of Renee cause I don't think he can do it by himself. Always, Always Always, Remember the Alamo.

Williams was hard and Byroth easy so I guess that evens things out. All together this has been a nice year

Stay cute

Koch

Christy,
Well, it's kind of hard to say anything to you. We've been good friends for a long time and have done some mighty dumb (but fun!)
things. I want you to come and see me sometime. Best of luck in the future and
please try to be good!

Love always,
Kathy

Christy,
it's been fun
in N.E. this year.
Good luck in the future I hope to see you this summer.

Chris-
That kin-co-y hayrack ride was a failure but a riot you aren't too cool! Makes me sick. Good Luck.
Diane

Chris ♡
I love you. You a keen girl. The pen cannot express my devotion. Do you love me? I hope so.
Good luck always.

CHRIS,
WE'VE KNOWN EACH
OTHER FOR SO LONG - I'M GLAD BE GOT REACQUAINTED
IN CHOIR THIS YR (YEA CONRAD & DAVE!). THE NEXT 3 YRS ARE
THE GREATEST & I'M SURE
YOU'LL HAVE A FUN TIME.
JUDE

Chris -
Best of luck, hallahluya, been lots of fun with you in geometry.
see you sometime during
summer.
Terry

Chris,
Thirty years from now when you're looking through all your old yearbooks, and you come to a guy named "PeeWee", just remember that he was one guy that really had a crush on you. These past few months have really been fun and I hope that it's only the beginning. You're really wonderful and you've got ~~lots~~ lots of potential! (I guess there's got to be one in every family!) Anyway, never change - you're really swell! (Honest)

Love,
Bill

Chris,
Colorado!
Lots of fun in Potison's.
Have a fun summer at camp. I'm sure you and Bill have a great time (with your sdf)
Love Chrisfayer

Christy,
I'll never forget all the fun(?)
we had with C+
D. at choir. I only regret to inform you that I won't return next year.
I wish you all the luck in the world (with C. that is and maybe with Bill W. too).
Bye,
Nikki Bly

Guidance has been a panic in the library. Have fun
this summer - with
"you know who!"
Good Luck
Judy

Chris,
We'll get 100 cars washed
even if we have to haul them in. Kin-Co-4 has been so much fun this year. Stay sweet and good luck with Bill.
Love
Nancy P.

Chris -
You're one of my favorite sophs - Have fun with Bill - now
that he's participator.
See you next year.
